The Robot Battleship
An Advise Him
A Happy Mother
One Small Baby.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE OLD BATTLESHIP Utah is to be a "robot" battleship, without a man aboard, directed by radio control far away. Radio will explode bombs, guns, big and small, steer the ship in any direction, lay down smoke screens.

The same can be done with airplanes with no pilot. Men have already achieved the art of fighting at a distance without danger to themselves.

Beginning like the animals, men fought face to face, raining blows on each other's heads. They didn't like that and some clever person invented the spear, and hurling it, killed an enemy that never saw him. One still wiser invented the bow and arrow, then came the rifle, then the airplane bomb. And now battleships and airplanes can pursue the enemy guided by men at a safe distance. That is clever enough to a miracle.

EVERYBODY from Will Rogers to President Hoover, agrees that congress ought to "do something for labor." But what can congress do for the bulk of the 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 idle?

It can build roads, erect buildings, and should undoubtedly do both, where they are needed, and with an eye to future need. Such building would employ comparatively little labor on road building.

But what about the stenographer out of work, who swallowed poison, dictating into a talking machine a last message for her father, mother and brother to hear?

What can be done for the millions idle, the white collar men, the no collar men? Congress should appropriate and spend money, of course. The government has it, or can get it, in spite of its big deficit.

But something better than artificial creation of jobs is needed. Thinking and planning are needed and an understanding of the depression, its causes and how to cure it.

MRS. ROBERT M. LA FOLLETE, widow of the late senator, is dead. She saw her husband make his courageous fight and win it, never wavering to the last day. She lived to see one of her sons take his father's place in the senate and another son elected governor of the state of Wisconsin.

When her husband died friends wanted her to run for the senate, but she preferred to live through her husband and her sons. Every mother can tell you that their success meant greater happiness to the wife and mother than all personal success could have meant.

SOMEBODY left a three-weeks-old baby in Lawrence Rutrio's car, parked on Mason street, Greenwich, Conn. The child was neatly dressed and to it was pinned this note, in disguised handwriting: "This baby is a Catholic. Baptize it, please. I have no home for it. See it will be taken care of. Thanks."

There is a sad story back of that note, and it is not hard to guess what it is.

The baby will be baptized and cared for. Anybody adopting it would have, in all probability, a little girl to be proud of.

William the Conqueror and Leonardo da Vinci were both babies of that kind, their mothers not married, although the Duke of Normandy later married Arletta, the tanner's daughter, mother of the boy who became the conqueror.

Leonardo's father never married the peasant mother of his great artist son. The social gap was too great. Instead, he married a woman of the nobility, and Leonardo had the pleasure of supporting his half brothers and sisters.

MAX GREETS JIMMY

With characteristic wisecracks, Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, voiced a radio "Hello" to Germany when he landed at Bremen from the S. S. Bremen to be given the welcoming hand by Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world. Debonair, immaculate Jimmy is shown addressing the German people through the "mike." Next to Mayor Walker is Schmeling, next a ship's officer and right, Joe Jacobs, Max's manager.

FOG, MOTOR TROUBLE DELAY LINDBERGHS

Flying Couple Face Second Night Off Keoti Isle Due to Bad Weather.

By The Associated Press

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 20—Motor trouble and fog held Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh at Keoti island, one of the world's worst fog zones, again tonight.

The flying couple, forced down there late yesterday while on their way from Petropavlovsk to Nemuro, were described in radio reports as rather weary, having spent last night in the cramped quarters of their plane and getting little, if any sleep.

In spite of their weariness and an accumulation of trouble during today, the fliers were said to be in good spirits. They decided to taxi their plane to Muroton bay, 15 miles to the southwest, but the engine trouble developed. Toward evening the treacherous currents of Ketoi began to change and Lindbergh had the plane towed to another nearby anchorage by the Japanese government steamer Shimushiru Maru, which had arrived early in the day.

Eager To Continue

The Lindberghs were described as having been eager to reach Muroton bay, where their plane would be much safer from storms and tricky ocean currents than at Ketoi, one of the most uninviting spots in the Kurile island chain.

Messages said the couple had spent an uncomfortable night in the plane and remained in it until after 8 o'clock in the morning, when the Shimushiru Maru arrived.

They went aboard the ship, stretching their limbs and having breakfast while being interviewed by the skipper on their landing at Ketoi. Later they returned to the plane, hoping for weather favorable to resumption of their flight to Nemuro, or, failing that, enough visibility to taxi their ship to Muroton bay. But their motor trouble forestalled even that.

On top of that, the weather began to thicken. Mrs. Lindbergh stuck by her radio set until night-

HOOVER NAMES OHIO MAN ON COMMITTEE

Fred C. Croxton, of Columbus, To Assist Phone Company President.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—President Hoover today selected Fred C. Croxton of Columbus, O., as assistant director of the reorganized unemployment relief committee headed by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Gifford Named Yesterday

Gifford was named by Mr. Hoover yesterday to command a new national organization to mobilize and direct unemployment relief next winter with the support of "the whole force of the administration."

The new relief chief today accepted an invitation from the President to spend the week-end at the Rapidan camp and go over the entire unemployment situation.

In announcing yesterday that Gifford would mobilize and direct the relief army the chief executive said the New Yorker would be given a national advisory committee to serve as his staff.

Given Ample Aid

In requesting Gifford to assume the relief responsibility President Hoover assured him that "the whole force of administrations" would be at his disposal.

"I am asking you to do this," the President wrote, "because of my long acquantance with work you have done in similar fields and it is my desire that you should use your own judgment as to the type of organization you set up and its methods of work."

Gifford has been in close touch with the unemployment situation through the statistical organization of his company.

Headquarters for the new organization will be established in Washington. The President's emergency unemployment committee, of which Colonel Arthur Woods was chairman, will be merged with it.

Woods Retires

Woods, the President said, had returned "to his other responsibilities" after volunteering his service with an understanding that he would have to retire this autumn. Mr. Hoover characterized his chairmanship as "splendid leadership."

The American Association of Public Welfare Officials has presented to the emergency committee an outline of the "fundamental principles" for relief during the coming winter.

It declared the major responsibility for relief was on the local community but called attention to its opinion that "there are some communities where financial conditions are so acute it may be im-

MAN SLASHES THROAT IN YPSILANTI JAIL

Paul Keene, Quizzed in Torch Slayings, Makes Suicide Attempt.

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 20.—Paul Keene, 49, one of the first suspects arrested in connection with the torch slaying of two young couples near Ypsilanti last week, slashed his throat in the county jail here last night in what officers said was a suicide attempt. His condition is serious.

He was to have been questioned concerning blood stains found on a club in the shanty on wheels occupied by him and his brother, Lawrence, who also is in custody. A short distance from the spot where bodies of the four young persons were found in their still-burning car along a lonely road.

The stains, which University of Michigan scientists said were human blood, never were satisfactorily explained by the brothers, but confessions of the three slayers absolved them from suspicion in the murders.

The brothers have been held since the confessions of the slayers, on a prohibition charge. Whiskey mash was found in their shanty.

HEAR OF PLOT TO DUPLICATE PLATES

Pen Officials Hear of Plan To Smuggle Out Auto Tags.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Ohio penitentiary officials said today that they were investigating a "tip" from within the walls of the prison that duplicate automobile tags were being manufactured by convicts and smuggled to friends outside.

Officials said they had uncovered no evidence to substantiate the "tip" but were checking every source in an attempt to prevent making of duplicates.

They pointed out that in 1928 fifty duplicate sets were made and smuggled to the outside but only a few of them were recovered. The state automobile license tags are made in the prison by convicts and officials said it would be a comparatively easy job to smuggle out the duplicates.

City officials said the duplicates would be of great value to robbers, pointing out that usually the license number of an automobile used in a hold-up is obtained and by use of the duplicates the officials are thrown off the trail of the actual robbers.

MAN'S LEG BROKEN IN TRUCK COLLISION

Elbert Riley, 63, in City Hospital After Accident at Intersection.

Elbert Riley, 63, of 452 east Center street, is in City hospital with his right leg broken above the knee and minor cuts on his head, the result of an accident this morning at State street and Delaware avenue in which two trucks and three men figured.

Riley was riding in a small truck driven by John Burkepile of 332 Patten street. They were going south on State street and entered the intersection going into Delaware avenue.

A large truck driven by C. W. Hardin for the A. F. Koons trucking concern of Columbus was coming north, and the Burkepile truck dodged to avoid a head-on crash, witnesses said. The two machines sideswiped. The smaller machine was demolished. Neither Burkepile nor Hardin was injured.

Police investigated the accident, but no arrests were made. Riley was taken to City hospital in the W. C. Bay's ambulance.

POLICE SEEK PAL OF "PITTSBURGH HYMIE"

Cleveland Racketeer Wanted in Connection with William Potter Slaying.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 20—Louis Rothkopf, alleged gangster pal of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, serving a life term for the murder of former Councilman William E. Potter here nearly seven months ago, was gangdom's latest will-o the wisp to be sought in Cleveland authorities today in renewed investigation of the slaying.

It was revealed today that private and city detectives for weeks have trailed Rothkopf through Canada, into Michigan and Florida and are now seeking him on the Pacific coast.

The dapper Cleveland racketeer was sought as a witness. Prosecutor Ray Miller said, in an effort to clear up clouded features of the circumstances which led to the brutal slaying of Potter in an east side apartment house.

Rothkopf's name has been lined with that of the mysterious "Mr. Klein," seen with Martin about the time the former Cleveland councilman was killed.

CRUDE OIL PRICES HIGHER IN TEXAS

Murray Says Oklahoma Dealers Willing to Meet Demanded Cost.

By The Associated Press

KILGORE, Tex., Aug 20—There were indications of higher prices for crude oil today as the Oklahoma martial law shutdown of production continued for the third week and the martial law lid was clamped tighter on the east Texas field.

Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, who inaugurated the shutdown plan in an effort to boost crude prices in a distressed industry, said four or five oil companies had agreed to pay the $1 a barrel price he demanded. He would not name the companies but said he believed a plan could soon be evolved whereby the companies could obtain oil.

Reports from east Texas were that storage supplies were being held at prices ranging from 60 to 65 cents a barrel. Large quantities previously had sold for 7½ to 10 cents a barrel.

ESTIMATE DEAD AT 300

Loyalists Capture Supplies as Insurgents Take Refuge in Tunnel.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Aug. 20—Victorious in the first important battle of the revolution, government troops, airplanes and gunboats joined forces today to drive the rebels from northern Oriente province.

Officials said federals successfully completed a three-day siege of Gibara on the northern coast of Oriente yesterday and surrounded their enemies on the outskirts of the town. Newspapers estimated the casualties at between 200 and 300 men killed and wounded.

A million rounds of ammunition 57 machine guns and 800 rifles were said to have been captured by the government. The fleeing insurgents took refuge in a railway tunnel. Their capture was reported imminent.

Learning that an expeditionary force had landed at Gibara, the government dispatched planes and a gunboat to the scene. The fliers were said to have dropped between 900 and 1,000 bombs, and the gunboat bombarded the harbor.

Rural guard forces advanced on the town and were met by machine gun fire. Supported by troops and coast artillery, the Loyalists encircled Gibara and aided by an attack from sea and air dislodged their adversaries after severe fighting.

At the same time, President Gerardo Machado was directing his men in stamping out the insurrection in Santa Clara province.

Oppositionist headquarters here warned women and children to keep off the streets but the city remained quiet.

FLOODS IN CHINA EXACT HEAVY TOLL

Disaster Approaches Major World's Catastrophe as Hundreds Die Daily.

By United Press

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20—Floods on the Yangtze river today assumed the proportions of a major world disaster.

Indescribable conditions prevailed in Hankow, once prosperous city. Hundreds of people are dying of starvation daily and the famine hourly is becoming acute.

Women and children fight frantically for bits of refuse seen floating in the muddy, filty waters in order to obtain bits of nourishment.

Hogs by the scores roam the elevated grounds feeding on the unremoved human bodies.

C. OF C. MAKES PLANS FOR GOODWILL TOURS

Members To Visit Cities on Mission of Neighborliness; Pittsburgh, Wheeling First.

Definite plans for goodwill tours to be made by members of the Marion chamber of commerce within the next 30 days were taken under consideration at a meeting of the convention, tourists and publicity committee last night, C. A. Klunk, chairman, announced today.

Tours will carry members of the chamber as far east as Pittsburgh and Wheeling and as far west as Fort Wayne on a mission of goodwill and neighborliness. CONFERENCE TO ACT ON NEW PASTOR PLAN

Extension of Time-Limit on Length of Service Sought at Meeting.

OUTSTANDING PROBLEM

Two Marion Men Granted Licenses as Evangelical Ministers.

Removal or extension of the time limit a pastor may serve one church occupied most of the morning session of the Ohio Evangelical conference here today.

Two of five men granted licenses to preach this morning are Marion men. The five are I. E. Jobe and Gerald Zimmer of Marion, Charles P. Tozer of Akron, C. A. Ramey of Tontogany and O. L. Snyder of Burgoon.

They were recommended in a partial report of the committee on conference relations, and have been granted licenses as junior preachers in the denomination. The men who applied for the order of an elder, also were recommended by the committee and accepted by the conference.

Important Issue

The question of the removal of the seven-year time limit now in force, is the most vital to all ministers at the Ohio conference, and is of such importance to the denomination throughout the world, that visitors from the general offices and from outside conferences were present in the audience this morning to learn the trend of feeling at the Calvary church meeting.

Ohio, Texas and Pittsburgh conferences are the only three remaining to vote on the question. As the vote stands, taken from the conferences of the United States, Europe, Canada, China and Japan, the affirmatives are in the lead. The three remaining conferences can swing the vote either way.

At present, an Evangelical minister can serve church seven years. The arguments presented this morning were both for an absolute removal of the time limit and for a longer extension of time.

Conference opened this morning with Bishop J. F. Dunlap officiating. A song was sung, following

TWO BATHERS LOST AT ATLANTIC CITY

List of Missing Persons Reduced as One Returns to Home.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 20—The list of missing bathers reported to the beach life guards as having probably been lost during the unusually high tides which lashed the strand yesterday was reduced to two today, when one returned to the home where he had been staying.

He is Homer Fry, 17, of Carnegie, Pa. Fry had been staying with his mother, Mrs. Frank Fry at the home of Melvin Atkinson of Pleasantville. He left there yesterday morning, saying he was going in bathing in Atlantic City. When he did not return he was reported missing.

There seemed to be some doubt that one of the others reported missing was drowned. A woman reported at the South Carolina avenue beach tent during the height of the beach disturbance yesterday, that her son, Rev. John W. Canaday, 25, pastor of the Oliver Presbyterian church in Baltimore, had gone in bathing and could not be located. The minister was at the beach for the day only, and as nothing further has been heard from the woman, it is believed, he may have returned to Baltimore last night.

There seems to be no doubt, however, that Eugene Rosario, 17, Paterson high school athlete, was drowned. He had been staying at the Knickerbocker. He went in bathing and during the height of the beach phenomenon he was seen struggling in the water.

3 STATES PLAN COAL CAMPAIGN

Civic Leaders, Public Officials Meet at Wheeling To Stabilize Industry.

TO MOLD PUBLIC OPINION

May Form Tribunal of University Presidents for Impartial Survey.

By The Associated Press

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 20—A new plan designed to improve economic conditions in the bituminous coal industry today had the endorsement of western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia city officials and business men who pledged themselves to attempt to mold public sentiment in behalf of the proposal.

While admitting that their plan was not "infallible," sponsors of the movement to form a new competitive field composed of bituminous operators in three states last night asked and received the endorsement of civic leaders in behalf of the proposal.

Pinchot Sends Message

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania gave encouragement to the aims of the group in a telegram to Manager-Mayor T. Y. Beckett of Wheeling.

"Too much cold water has been thrown on operators' and miners' suggestions for stabilization of the coal industry," the governor said. "Your conference expresses a growing momentum behind the public demand that the coal industry begin to solve its problem. Consequently you should not be discouraged at the size of the task."

GRAND JURY INDICTS FORMER BANK HEAD

By The Associated Press

MILLERSBURG, O., Aug. 20—The Holmes county grand jury in special session indicted William A. Miller, former president of the Farmers & Merchants bank which closed June 13, on 18 counts charging forgery and embezzlement. He was charged with forging $32,615 in notes and embezzling $300,000 in building and loan funds.

No Plan

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Every day bring new schemes in the papers for relief. The Russians got a five-year plan. Maybe it's terrible but they got one. We been two years just trying to get a plan.

The latest two comes from Mr. McKelvie of the north and Gov. Long of the south. Neither one helps the corn raiser or the city fellow. One wants to give all the surplus wheat to the unemployed (that has been suggested more times than there is bushels). Long wants to plant no cotton next year.

Both are good schemes, but neither puts anybody to work, so we are still in the market for a plan. We will just about have to save ourselves accidentally. That's the way we stumbled on prosperity. Yours

HOOVER NOT TO MAKE POLICY ANNOUNCEMENT

Officials To Wait Until Full Meeting of Report Is Known.

OPPOSES CANCELLATION

U. S., However, Will Not Exact Payments Beyond Debtors' Ability To Pay.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Administration silence still cloaked today reactions of the Washington government to suggested solutions of Germany's economic plight put forward by the Wiggin committee of international bankers.

High officials doubted that any immediate occasion for a policy declaration by the Hoover administration would arise while the Wiggin report will be studied closely. It was intimated it has already disclosed ramifications even beyond the question of revision of intergovernmental debts which attracted first attention.

Takes Up Private Debts

The Wiggin committee has injected the question of private German debts sharply into discussion of the world depression remedies.

Up to now relations of Germany to the world-wide economic crisis have been dealt with in international conferences and negotiations only from the aspect of intergovernmental debts. Reparations due from Germany and war debts due the United States.

Whether the report of the Wiggin committee foreshadows some definite efforts to work out a method of scaling down all of these German commitments, both public and private or is to be taken merely as an advisory warning from the bankers, is not known in Washington. Comment on the committee report made in Basel was refused in governmental quarters.

No official, even privately, would attempt to unravel the meaning of the suggestion of the Wiggin committee conclusions that the "snowball of Germany's foreign debts," both public and private, must be checked as a step toward world economic recovery. From the immediate post-war days, on, Washington has sought to keep out of all but one aspect of loans to Germany, financed by American banking groups.

Keeps Hands Off

Affirmatively, Washington has discountenanced any such loans as might directly or indirectly go toward expansion of the armament burdens of Europe. Otherwise it has followed a hands-off policy, refusing specific approval or disapproval for loans not challengable on that ground.

As an illustration of the scope of the private loan question raised by the Wiggin report, estimates of some authorities as to the aggregate of German obligations under this heading run as high as five billion dollars. Of that, it has also

Want U. S. To Send Delegates to Debt Meeting

By The Associated Press

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 20 — The meeting of the Pan-European commission at Geneva on Sept. 3, loomed today as the first occasion on which assembled statesmen of great powers would have an opportunity to consider the recommendations of the Wiggin committee of international bankers.

The problems of the revision of reparations, the settlement of lingering disputes between European nations and the shattering of tariff walls, it was said in informed quarters, could be tackled there by the foreign ministers of the countries concerned under the auspices chapters of the League of Nations.

The fact that the United States is not a member of the commission, however, was considered an obstacle and the suggestion arose that President Hoover appoint an American representative for the meeting. The inter-relation of reparations and war debts is so close, it was felt, that the deliberations would not be effective without cooperation from Washington.

The convening of the League four days later, also was mentioned as a possibility for tackling the issue. Either session would exhibit a representative completeness which could bring great weight to bear on such vital subjects.

The attitude of the American and French governments is considered to be the crux of the situation.

Auditor and Treasurer Working on Tax Records

Settlement and Distribution Must Be Made Before Smallwood Takes Over County Office; Check Delinquent Property on Books.

Officials and deputies of the offices of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas and County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton are in the midst of one of the busiest seasons these offices have seen in months.

Auditor Thomas, two deputies and a deputy in the office of Treasurer Shelton are busy marking delinquent taxes off the duplicate and registering them in the proper delinquency books. The job is a sizeable one, and will require several more days of work to complete.

Meantime, Treasurer Shelton and a deputy are checking over the tax collections, and obtaining official figures on the June collection, which must be distributed among the political subdivisions soon. Preliminary preparatons for the distribution due early in September are now being made by Miss Edith Eibling, in the office of Auditor Thomas. Deputy Auditor Harry Smith and other deputies are busy taking care of routine work of the office while other officials concentrate on the spedal tasks now before them.

An unusual demand is placed on officials of these offices at present by the change in county treasurers due the first Monday in September. By the time the change takes place, Treasurer Shelton must have final figures on the tax collection and be prepared to make the distribution before R. G. Smallwood incoming treasurer, takes over the office. This change also necessitated closing the tax books at a comparatively early date this year in order to prepare the records for Smallwood.

Another burden, the complete reappraisement of all lands and buildings in the city, townships and villages, which is made every sixth year for taxation purposes, is now under way in charge of Auditor Thomas. The task will not be completed for several days. The next step will be a tabulation of the new appraisement figures to learn how the duplicate has been affected by the reappraisement.

To top all troubles, officials are now preparing to revise their work to conform with numerous changes in duties made by the last legislature. Many new duties are imposed on the county treasurer and auditor, as the tax setup of the state was completely revised.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Aug. 21

WHILE in the main this day is under excellent auspices for increase, advance, profit and gain in many directions, with prospect of fulfilled ambitions, yet there is a sign of confusion, sudden disruption and some baffling or curious developments. A menace of fraud, collusion or duplicity may complicate very encouraging and gratifying conditions. Discretion, awareness and resolution may negative these hazards and secret perils.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of splendid prospects, with promse of promotion, progress, profitable openings and fulfilled ambitions, but these may be accompanied by subtle menaces of fraud, treachery and hidden disruptive influences, therefore great precaution is enjoined. A child born on this day should be energetic, determined, ambitious and of diverse talents, but it may encounter sime peculiar or sinister frustrations in its affairs.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally

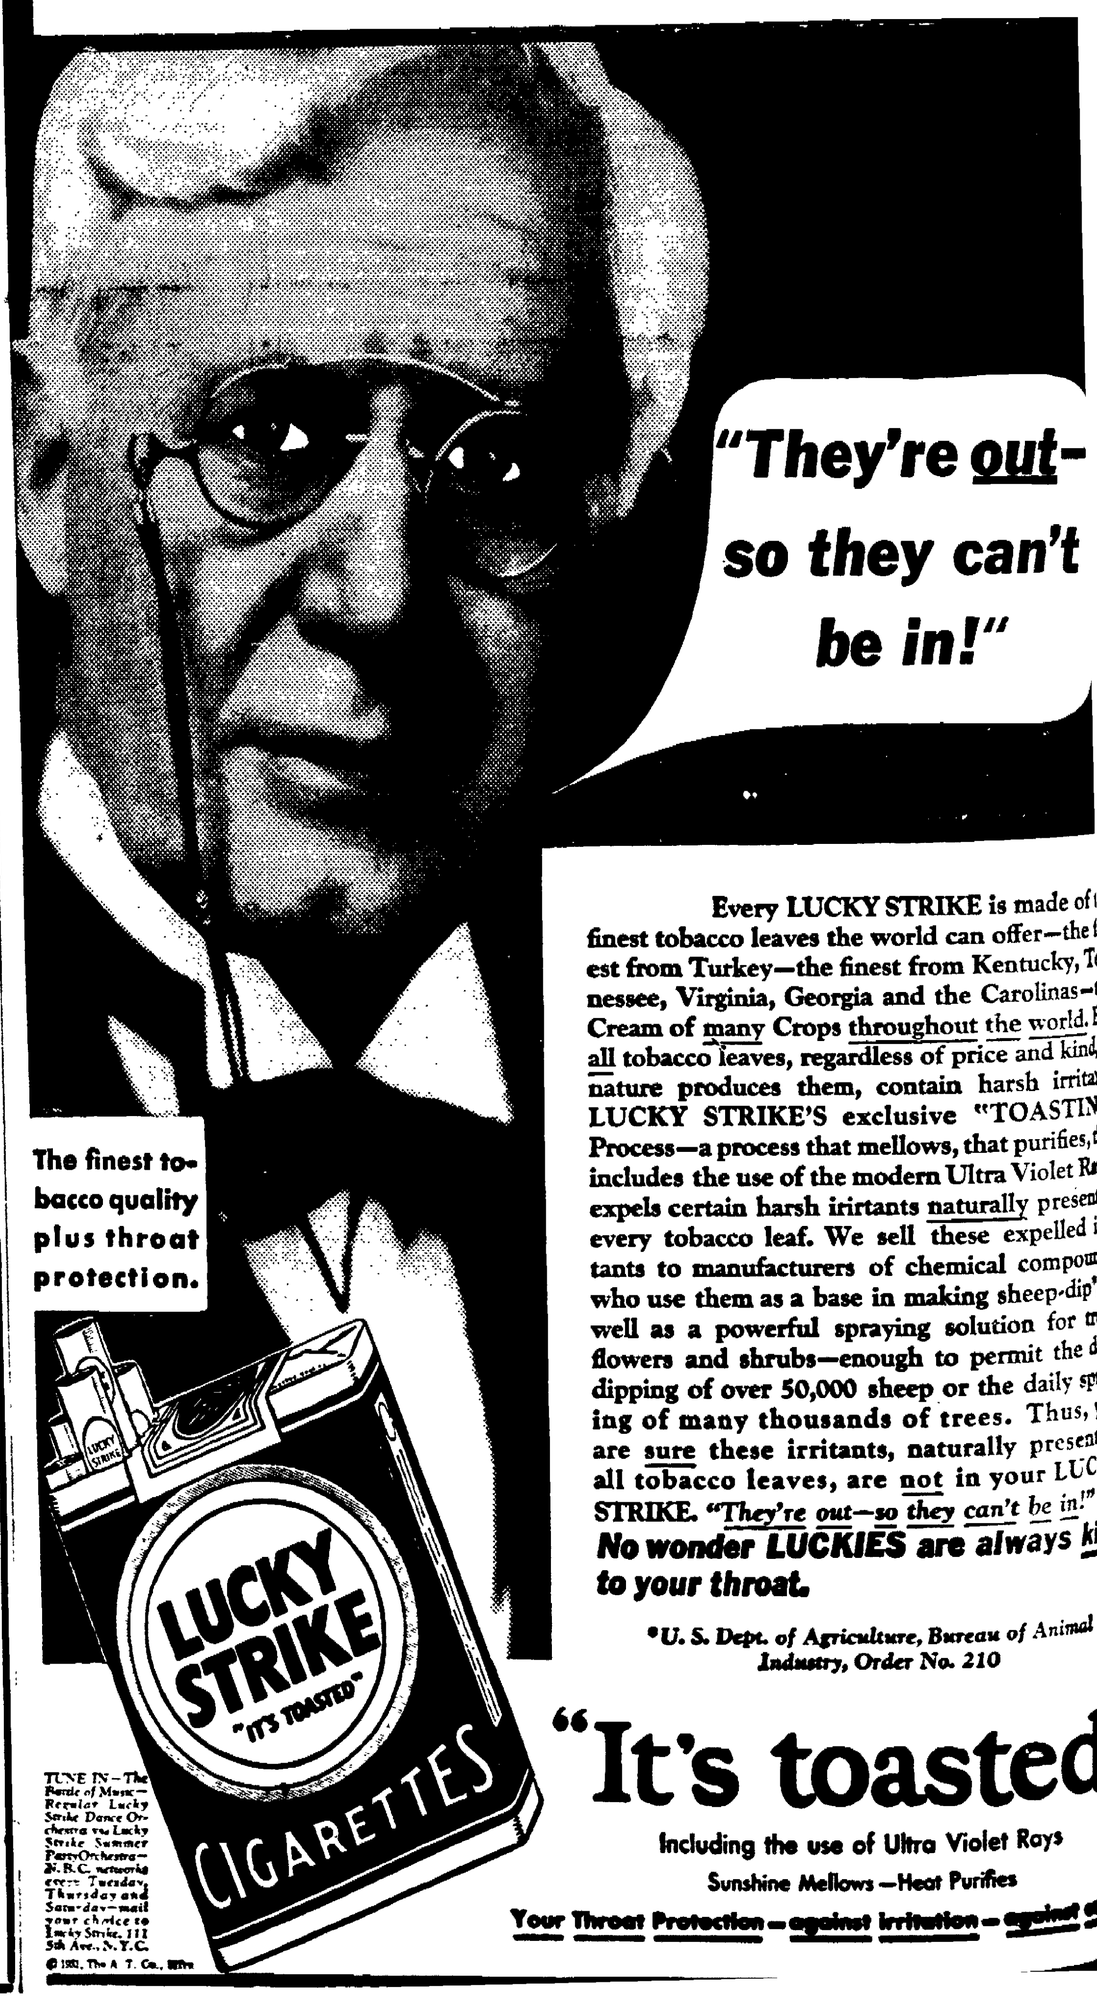
(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

present in every tobacco leaf



"They're out—so they can't be in!"

The finest tobacco quality plus throat protection.

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irirtants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds who use them as a base in making sheep-dip, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!"

No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Irish Meet Kappas in Little World's Series Opener

PRESBYTERIANS AND ELECTRICIANS PAIRED FOR SECOND CONTEST

First Game Scheduled for 6 P. M. Monday; Paul Rice Heads Umpiring Staff.

[illegible] folks—it's the Irish versus Kappas in the first game of the Little World's series this [illegible]. The former of the No. 1 [illegible] school circuit, the latter representing the Commercial league. These two teams will get together next Monday and do whatever can be done in one game toward deciding the softball championship of the city of Marion.

The Monday games will only be the start of the series however. On Tuesday the C. D. & M. Electricians will take up the work along with the First Presbyterians, these two meeting in the second game of the series. And then on Thursday, the two teams which lose their first game will mix it up in the third start of the series. The winners will play the fourth game but that will not be next week so there's no hurry about that.

All games will be played at Lincoln park. All games will start at six p. m. prompt. And six p. m., says the baseball commission, won't be six-five or six-ten. It will be six p. m.!

Paul Rice will be umpire in chief of the series this season. He will be assisted by Norris Crissinger, Leo Keller and R. G. Smallwood, the latter three all being members of the commission. The commission did not choose the umpires. The managers of the four competing teams named them.

The series this year will be run the same as in former seasons. The double elimination plan will be used, each team having to lose two games before being out of the series. An admission price of 10 cents will be charged. The team that wins the series will be declared city champion.

Petrolle, McLarnin Even Money Bets for Battle

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—It's the rubber battle between Billy Petrolle, the veteran scrapper from Fargo N. D., and Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver youngster at the Yankee stadium tonight.

Petrolle, who thought he had had enough of the ring a year or so ago, came out of retirement and gave Jimmy one of the worst beatings of his career. Then McLarnin turned around and polished off Billy in a return bout. Tonight, in their third meeting within a year, they hope to settle the argument. The bout is over the ten-round route and is scheduled to go on about 9 p. m. (Marion time).

Neither fighter has been able to establish himself as a popular favorite. McLarnin is expected to have about a four-pound weight advantage.

FORRY TO DRIVE

Marion Pilot to Drive Car in Bucyrus Race Sunday.

Rudy Forry, young Marion speed demon, will be seen behind the wheel of his racing creating creation for the first time in this section Sunday afternoon when he participates in a series of gasoline events on the Bucyrus fairground track. The American Legion of Bucyrus is sponsoring the events, which will include several speed events between first class racing cars and also an "Ash Can Derby" for decrepit cars valued at not more than $50.

Several other drivers familiar to local followers of automobile racing will be seen at Bucyrus. Among them are Bill Chittuum, Ohio dirt track champion Shorty Wolfe and Clay Corbett.

Aside from the racing events the Legion has arranged for the first showing in this district of the spine-chiseling thriller of a head-on collision between two automobiles traveling at 50 miles an hour.

FABER JINXED

Mates Go Scoreless 31 Innings While He Is On Mound.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 — Urban "Red" Faber, veteran White Sox spitball pitcher, is just going along hoping his mates will score a run for him one of these days.

When he retired for a pinch batsman in the eighth inning of Bob Grove's personal triumph yesterday, it rounded out the thirty-first consecutive scoreless inning for the Faber-White Sox combination. And just as soon as old Red was out of the ball game, the Sox stepped right out and scored two runs off Grove.

GROVE CHECKS SOX TO TAKE 16TH AND TIE LEAGUE RECORD

Victory Is Sixteenth Straight for Athletic Southpaw; Tribe Wins Two.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

For some time, Lefty Grove, star southpaw of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been hanging around the portals of baseball's hall of fame pressing some strong claims to ownership of one of the niches. He gained official recognition for a place in the hall yesterday when he recorded his sixteenth consecutive victory by beating the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

This triumph, which gave Grove a record so far of 25 games won and only two lost, equaled the American league record. Smoky Joe Wood, of the Boston Red Sox and Walter Johnson of Washington were the previous American league pitchers to win 16 straight games, both of them doing it in 1912. The major league mark is 19 straight.

Grove has done some great work in winning those 16 games.

Averill Clouts Two

Just by way of keeping pace in equaling records, Earl Averill tied Cleveland's all-time home run hitting mark by clouting his twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth homers of the season in the first half of a double-header with Washington. The Indians won both games from the Senators by scores of 10 to 5 and 10 to 8.

Irving Burns of the St. Louis Browns pulled off another unique feat to hand the New York Yankees a 7 to 3 setback. With the score tied in the seventh and the bases full, Burns clouted a triple then stole home to provide the margin of victory. Boston and Detroit staged a slugfest which netted the Red Sox sixth place in the standing as they won out 9 to 8.

The New York Giants once more took possession of second place in the standing. They came through in the ninth with two runs to down the Cincinnati Reds 6 to 5.

Cubs Split Bill

Meanwhile the Chicago Cubs could get no better than an even break with Brooklyn. Home runs by Cuyler and Barton spoiled a good pitching performance by Cy Moore in the first game and gave Chicago a 4 to 1 victory. Dazzy Vance did not pitch quite so well in the second game, but the Robins rallied behind him for four runs in the sixth and won 5 to 3.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals and the lowly Phillies split another twin bill. The Phils took the first game 3 to 2, but the Cards took the second clash 8 to 4.

Pittsburgh and Boston were rained out in their battle for fifth place, bringing on a doubleheader today.

Dempsey Still Packs Punch in Return to Ring

By The Associated Press

RENO, Aug. 20—Four years absence from the boxing ring apparently has not impaired the slugging prowess of Jack Dempsey former world heavyweight boxing champion.

The Manassa mauler, boxing at 199 pounds, last night began a series of exhibitions which may end in an attempt to regain the heavyweight crown, with a knockout of Jack Beasley, Oakland, Cal. after flooring his 185-pound opponent for counts of eight and nine early in the second round. Dempsey landed a short left that ended, before the halfway mark, a scheduled 4-round bout.

A series of lefts and rights to the body had Beasley in distress before the second round was hardly under way. The sun-bronzed Dempsey was breathing easily at the finish.

Twisting, turning, weaving and rolling, Jack was much the same Dempsey as when he met Willard, Firpo and all the others. Beasley never laid a glove on him after the first round.

Jack plainly was nervous when he entered the ring, but quickly got over his 'stage fright.'

A tour through the northwest is scheduled to begin August 24, in ortland, Ore. Later Dempsey plans exhibitions in the midwest and east.

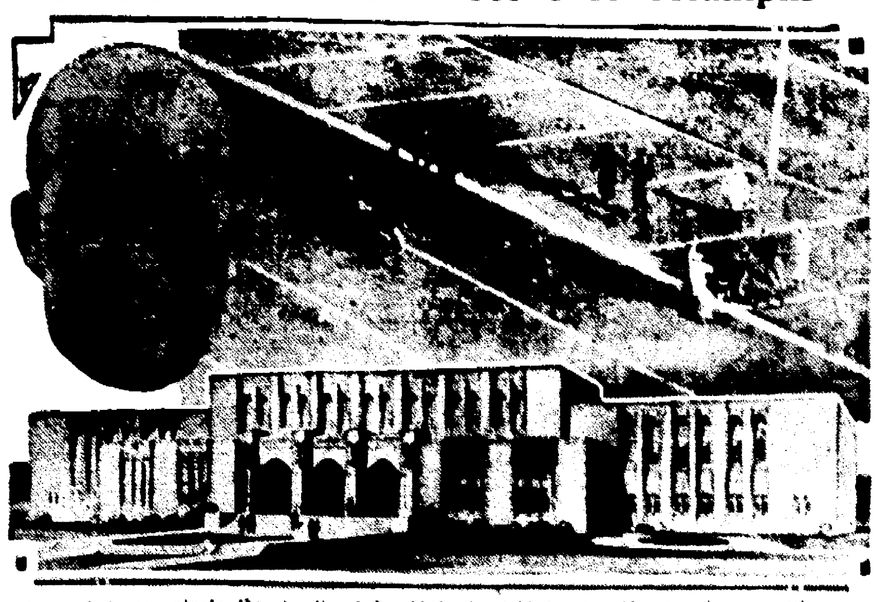
SAINTS KEEP GOING IN QUEST OF TITLE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 — Indianapolis' attempt to put brakes on the hurtling St. Paul machine has resulted just as has every other recent endeavor to slow the Saints down.

After taking the first game of the series, the Indians, although they fought back with all they had, did some more taking, but it was all on the chin. The Saints won the next three and finished up last night by showing Indianapolis a two-hit pitcher—Russ Van Atta. The contest was the only one scheduled in the league yesterday.

To Honor Rockne on Scene of Triumphs



Designed to perpetuate the memory of the greatest football coach of all time, this memorial field house is to be erected on the campus of Notre Dame university, on the site of the old Cartier Athletic field where Rockne molded some of the greatest teams in history. The plans have been approved by the Rockne Memorial Association and a nation wide campaign to raise one million dollars will be conducted this fall. Above is the architect's drawing of the memorial. Rockne, the "Wizard of South Bend" is in inset.

BRITISH STARS LOSE IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Only Four of Seven Remain in Running for Women's Championship.

By The Associated Press

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20—The chances for an international singles final in the women's national tennis championship appeared considerably slimmer today as only four of the seven British entries were left in the running and one of the four had to stake her chances of survival on a single set.

A sudden storm late yesterday afternoon cut short the program after three British stars had been eliminated and when a fourth, Mrs. Dorothy C. Shepherd-Barron, captain of the British Wightman cup team, stood all square with her opponent, Mrs. Marion Zinderstein-Jessup. Each had won one set Mrs. Jessup taking the first 8-6, and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron the second, 6-0.

The completion of that match formed one of the few high spots on today's schedule.

The three matches which were to decide the makeup of the rest of the last eight brought together Sarah Palfrey, young star from Sharon, Mass., and Phyllis Mudford of the British team; Betty Nuthall of England, the defending champion, and Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Calif.

Led by Mrs Helen Wills Moody, four California stars and one British invader already were in the quarter finals.

Negro ground keepers of the Chattanooga baseball club have appeared at games clad in snow-white bathing suits decorated with circus spangles.

LIVESAY WINNER

Columbus Southpaw Wins State Fortaiders' Golf Tournament.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20 — Ohio southpaw golfers were ruled today by E. G. Livesay of the Wyandot club, Columbus. He won the championship with a score of 311 in the annual 72-hole tournament yesterday.

The defending titlist, Charles E. Nixon Columbus, took second place by turning in a card of 324.

A stroke behind Nixon was E. M. Payne of Beckley, W. Va., who carded 325. Howdy Elliott of Toledo, was fourth with 328, and Arthur Wells of East Liverpool, fifth with 331. Archie Jackson of Mt. Vernon, finished with 375, and Angus King of Mt. Vernon, 386.

Dirt track auto racing under floodlights is being tried on a park speedway near St. Louis. It is an innovation in the midwest.

DENNY SHUTE TAKES OHIO OPEN TOURNEY TITLE THIRD TIME

Hudson, O., Pro Shoots Brilliant Final Round To Ward Off Contenders.

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Aug. 20—On what appears to be a long term lease, the Ohio Open golf championship was again in the possession of Denny Shute today.

The Hudson, Ohio, professional demonstrated a thorough going ability to ward off the efforts of contenders for his crown, which is his for the third consecutive year.

Taking the lead at the start and holding it for the greatest part of the 72 hole tournament, Shute stormed down the last 18 yesterday in three under par for a card of 283, one under par for the distance.

Shute beat the field by four strokes. Lou Waldron of Celina captured the runner-up position with 287 and Jack Collins came in third one stroke behind Waldron with 288.

Lloyd Gullickson, Cleveland district P. G. A. champion, landed fourth with 289 after a record 18-hole card of 67, four under par figures and the best for the tournament. Eddie Williams of Cleveland Westwood and Jim Kenney of Sylvania club, Toledo, tied for fifth with 290.

These six players earned the right to fill the six places allotted Ohio in the national professional golf association tournament at Providence, R. I., in September.

Ten strokes behind at 293, Bob Kepler of Dayton, state amateur champion, led the simon pures. The amateur king blasted his way to within one stroke of Shute on the tenth hole of the last round, but the pressure of his first open championship proved too strenuous and he slipped on the incoming nine for a 43. He went out in 34.

Milt Simpson, the prophetic blacksmith of Iola, Kas., has sent his horseshoe to the St. Louis Cardinals this year as his world's champion choice.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestions are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from Henney & Cooper or any good druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

GLORIA BACK, BUT NOT ALONE

Sir Cupid and Dame Rumor, putting their wagging heads together, have created keen interest in the affair of Gloria Swanson, film star, and Michael Farmer, millionaire sportsman, who followed the beautiful actress all over Europe and was a fellow passenger aboard the Aquitania when it brought Gloria home to the U. S. A. Here's the attentive Mr. Farmer keeping step with his romance while Gloria and the suitor she is non-committal about stroll on deck. Her final decree from the Marquis de la Falaise is not effective until late September.

ONE DEAD IN AUTO CRASH NEAR FOREST

Columbus Woman Dies of Injuries; Marengo Girl Probably Fatally Injured.

Special to The Star

FOREST, Aug. 20—Mrs. Myra Culver, 63, of 43 east Welch avenue, Columbus, is dead and her nieces Miss Doris Irene Culver, 20, of Marengo, was probably fatally injured in an automobile accident five miles west of here on the Lincoln highway about 3 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Culver suffered a fractured leg and internal injuries and died about an hour after being removed to the Home and Hospital at Findlay, in the Daily ambulance. Miss Culver suffered a fractured left arm, several broken ribs and a punctured lung. Little hope is held out for her recovery although she was reported to be resting easier at the hospital this morning.

Miss Culver's mother, Mrs. Vella Culver and her sister, Miss Lelia Culver escaped uninjured in the fatal accident when their car overturned in a deep ditch when the driver attempted to pass a truck to which two trailers were attached.

The party was returning to their homes after a vacation spent in Michigan.

NEBRASKA TO GET BURKE PARTNER

By The Associated Press

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 20—Governor Wilbur M. Brucker today ordered Gus Winkler, alleged confederate of Fred Burke, to be returned to Nebraska to stand trial for bank robbery. Winkler is in a Benton Harbor hospital following an automobile accident.

The state of Illinois also had sought the extradition of Winkler on a charge of robbing a Plano, Ills., bank. Nebraska sought him for participation in the $2,800,000 robbery of a Lincoln, Nebr., bank.

Burke is now serving a life sentence in a Michigan branch prison at Marquette for killing a St. Joseph, Mich., traffic policeman.

TWO DEAD AS STORM HITS PARTS OF OHIO

Heavy Damage Caused Over State; Bucyrus District in Wind Area

By The Associated Press

Wind and electrical storms over Ohio yesterday and last night caused the death of two persons and injuries to six others.

Stormy weather near Lima yesterday forced down the plane carrying Ernest Jahnacke, assistant secretary of the navy, as he was enroute to Washington from Milwaukee. He proceeded by train.

High winds uprooted trees, destroyed fruit and damaged farm buildings over two mile area near Bucyrus, while an electrical storm caused $8,000 damages at Fairview Liverpool. A score of buildings were struck by lightning at Sharon Pa., just over the eastern Ohio border.

Norman Gibson, 15, of Warren was killed by lightning as he stood beneath a tree seeking shelter from the storm. George Ferguson, 15, companion, was stunned.

Rudelle Lamb, 5, of Pine Bluff near Middletown, was the other victim. He died last night from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile during a heavy rainstorm.

Four golfers were severely burned and shocked at Canton when a bolt struck a water sprinkler of the golf course.

Another Canton man, Harley Member, 31, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition from injuries received when four automobiles ran together on the highway during a downpour of rain.

Many other minor traffic accidents, due to slippery pavements and impaired visibility, were reported.

In disproving a theory that radio has an effect on the weather a French scientist found that virtually the same irregularities in climate occur now that did more than a century ago.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Peaches for canning at $1.25 a bushel were plentiful on the market today although a few dealers were quoting the earlier price of $1.49. Tennessee and Georgia peaches continue to supply the demand although some home grown peaches were expected on the markets this week.

Watermelons were plentiful and the price was holding at from 25 to 35 cents. A few better quality melons were selling at 39 and 40 cents. Home grown muskmelons were on the market in large quantities today and were selling at from 10 to 20 cents. Cantaloupes also were plentiful and were being offered at from 10 to 15 cents. Dealers were carrying large supplies of bananas today that were selling at rive and six pounds for 25 cents.

Sweetcorn continues to come on the market in large quantities and dealers report ready sales at from 10 to 15 cents a dozen. This week is expected to see the passing of the earlier varieties. Pickles for canning are only fairly plentiful and are selling at 30 cents a hundred. Cucumbers were selling as low as three for 10 cents. Sweet potatoes were selling at five pounds for 25 cents today and Irish potatoes were five cents higher.

1 KILLED, ANOTHER BURNED BY BOLT

Lightning Strikes Two During Storm at Warren

By International News Service

WARREN, O., Aug. 20—One boy was dead here today and another was recovering from burns and shock which he suffered late yesterday when a bolt of lightning struck the tree under which both had taken refuge during a severe rainstorm.

Norman Gibson, 15, was the victim. He was killed instantly as he leaned against the tree. His companion, George Ferguson, 15, was stunned and burned.

Suffering temporary paralysis from the effects of the bolt, young Ferguson dragged himself 400 yards across a field to a farmhouse for aid in an attempt to save his friend. Resuscitation failed to revive Gibson.

TOO MANY MOVIES

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—Too much looking at the movies in theaters where he was an organist inspired Carl Parker, 23, to commit robberies for which he was under sentence today, according to his lawyer. Parker pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve one year to life in Joliet penitentiary.

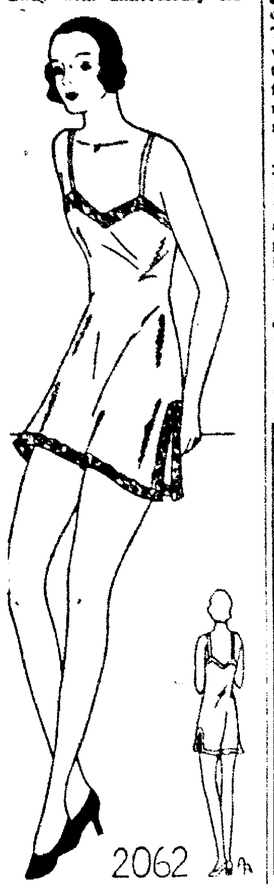
Chic Star Patterns

Practical and Simple

Dainty Undies—Sizes 16 to 44

Pattern 2062

A true, hot weather garment does away with unnecessary elastic, bands and fullness at the waistline. The chemise sketched goes further to provide coolness by opening the panties at the side. The garment is daintily trimmed with lace ecru preferably, since that is smart on white, pink and flesh underthings. Pattern 2062 makes up nicely in crepe de chine, rayon, cambric or triple voile.



Obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 36 inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU. Pattern Fashion Syndicate, Inc., 243 West 17th St., New York City.

Students of Guthery's Home To Help Make State Fair Success

LaRue High school students will do all in their power to make the Ohio State Fair, Aug. 31 to Sept. 5, a success for the sake of I. S. Guthery of LaRue, who, as state director of agriculture, is head of arrangements for the state fair.

This was disclosed today when officials of the high school assured Guthery they will send more exhibits to the fair than students from any other county in the state "to help him make it a big success," according to the International News Service.

Miss Agnes Cooper, LaRue home economics teacher, H. C. Hodson, vocational agriculture teacher, officials of the LaRue Future Farmers association, and the Grand Prairie Juvenile Grange have announced they will send numerous exhibits this year as a tribute to the director.

Ruth Jayne, 22, was confronted with a charge of felonious assault after she had admitted, under questioning, a story of a drinking party in her New York apartment during which Jessie Brander Boy Yates found signs of struggle, [illegible] shot and seriously wounded. Miss Jayne [illegible] refused to take her picture in the [illegible] hand before.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN OVERCOME IN STREET

Semi - Conscious Condition Puzzles Physicians Who Find Nothing Wrong.

Physicians are puzzled over the condition of a strange man, about 25, who fell unconscious on north Main street shortly after noon today. He was taken to the City hospital where two physicians said they could find nothing wrong.

When he later became conscious he was taken to police headquarters where he was placed in the woman's prison. He was still in a semi-conscious condition this afternoon and aside from murmuring in a faint voice that he felt sick, the police and physicians were unable to learn his identity.

Carrying a small black bag, he was walking north on north Main street shortly after noon. When in front of the National Refining gasoline station, he suddenly collapsed. He was taken to the hospital in the C. E. Curtis ambulance.

SHERMAN PARDONED BY GOVERNOR WHITE

Marion County Man To Be Released from Workhouse.

A. J. Sherman, of north of Marion, former proprietor of the "Chicken Coop," has been pardoned by Governor White and will be released from the Columbus workhouse soon, according to an Associated Press dispatch this morning.

Sherman was convicted on a charge of operating a dance hall without a license, after county authorities and police had raided the "Chicken Coop." The "coop" was padlocked. Sherman is crippled.

With a gasoline motor that he built, almost small enough to be carried in an overcoat pocket, a Los Angeles man has propelled a canoe carrying three persons at a speed of more than six miles an hour.

HUNDREDS SEE AERIAL SHOW

Parachute Jumps, Demonstrations of Autogyro and Junior Plane.

Heavy clouds which threatened rainfall throughout the afternoon failed to interfere with the aerial show at Marion airport yesterday afternoon. All scheduled events of the show were held without interruption, while several hundred Marionites looked on.

William Kuhns made two delayed parachute jumps from a Travelair open plane flown here from Plymouth by Pilot Elmer Parsel, who also assisted in pasesnger hops. Kuhns jumped at 4 p. m. and again at 7:45 p. m.

Pilot Harold Distelhorst of Port Columbus flew a Curtis-Wright Junior to the Marion airport during the afternoon to demonstrate the plane. The Marion Flying club is considering the purchase of a plane.

Frank Faulkner demonstrated an autogyro in another feature of the show. The autogyro today flew over Tiffin, Findlay, Fostoria and Upper Sandusky, and this afternoon was to visit Kenton, Lima, Ottawa, Defiance and Van Wert. It will leave Marion airport for Flint, Mich., at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

A number of Marionites saw the city from the air in passenger hops from the port, made during the show yesterday afternoon.

FINDLAY MAN HELD ON DRINKING CHARGE

Ed Wilson, 54, of Findlay, discovered that an automobile parked on the highway is not a satisfactory place to sleep off the effects of alcoholic indulgences when he was arrested at 1:30 a. m. today by Deputy Sheriff Chester Cosgrove.

Authorities were called when a motorist narrowly avoided running into Wilson's parked coupe four miles north of here on Bucyrus road. Wilson was placed in the city jail pending arraignment in municipal court this morning on a charge of intoxication.

For watering plants at their roots a long nozzle for garden hose that can be inserted into the ground has been invented, the flow of water being controlled by a spring valve.

Hemorrhoid Sufferers
End Your Piles Without Salves or Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEMROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEMROID has such a wonderful record right in this City, that Henney & Cooper says one bottle of HEMROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—Adv.

NEVER DRY · NEVER DUSTY · NEVER PARCHED

—they're FRESH!

IF you are not yet a Camel smoker you have a grand treat in store when first you enjoy the benefits of the Humidor Pack.

The three things in a cigarette that can make it sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat are safely eliminated from Camels.

There are no harsh parched-dry tobaccos—the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended require no overheating to make them palatable.

There is no peppery dust to irritate the throat—that's whisked away by a special vacuum-cleaning process.

There is no staleness nor loss of fragrance—made fine, Camels are kept fine wherever you buy them, thanks to the Humidor Pack.

This scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the aroma and freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

If you want to know what that means in throat-friendliness and smoking-pleasure, try Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

Ohio's New Tax Laws

This is the ninth of a series of articles by International News Service explaining new taxation laws adopted by the Ohio 89th general assembly.

To the land-poor, one of the most acceptable provisions of the new tax laws permits the payment of delinquent taxes on the installment plan.

Members of the legislature refused to approve a plan for the installment payment of current taxes however.

Unwilling that the installments should extend over too long a period, the law was written to require that the delinquent taxes, assessments and penalties charged on the tax duplicate against real estate may be paid in installments during five consecutive semi-annual tax-paying periods.

The law rules specifically that all installments must be for at least one-fifth of the amount due.

Where land owners have failed for three consecutive years to pay taxes, the state is authorized to begin foreclosure proceedings.

While this does not prohibit the partial payment of delinquent taxes, neither does partial payment prevent the state from carrying out the enforcement of its lien under terms of the new law.

Legislators saw in the installment tax-paying arrangement an opportunity to save from foreclosure and forefeiture the farms of many tax-delinquent farmers.

SPENDS $60 TO WIN G. O. P. NOMINATION

THREE SEEK POSTS ON SCHOOL BOARD

Marion Township Candidates File; Bowling Green To Hold Caucus.

Nomination by petition of candidates to be voted on in the Nov. 4 election continues to be one of the principal questions now before Marion county residents. Three candidates have been nominated for Marion township school board members, while plans are made for a caucus Thursday night in the Bowling Green township hall to nominate township officers.

A petition bearing 26 signers, favoring Alpheus Gruber of Marion R. F. D. No. 6, Elmer Bently, of Marion R. F. D. No. 3, and William Risch of Marion R. F. D. No. 2 as members of the rural board of education of Marion township has been filed with C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections.

Bowling Green township Democrats of both the east and west precincts will meet at the township house Thursday night to nominate three township trustees, a township clerk and a marshal, it was announced yesterday by William Guthery, and Frank Spicer, Democratic committeeman.

Man Must Pay $30.

Horace Scroggin, who was charged by his wife, Willie May Scroggin, with having failed to contribute toward the support of their five minor children since May 8, was ordered to pay $30 a month by Municipal Judge W. R Martin yesterday. He was released on his promise to pay.

BISHOP PRAISES LOCAL WOMAN FOR SERVICE

Mrs. Catherine Zachman of 212 south Prospect street was commended by Bishop J. F. Dunlap of Cleveland, at the opening sessions of the ninety-fourth annual session of the Ohio Evangelical conference at Calvary church.

For the last 27 years, Mrs. Zachman, assisted by Mrs. Reuben Stull of Delaware avenue, has prepared the communion table at Calvary church. Wednesday she prepared the table for the bishop and his presiding elders, who communed at the opening of the conference.

By her side as she knelt at the table with Bishop Dunlap and the elders, was her son, LeRoy Zachman. The Bishop spoke words of appreciation for the services Mrs. Zachman has rendered so devoutly over the long period of years.

Mrs. Stull has been stewardess for the last 28 years, and Mrs. Zachman for 27. This morning, although Mrs. Stull was unable to attend because of illness, she furnished the communion bread. For 28 years she has furnished the bread for the holy service and Mrs. Zachman has furnished the communion wine. They launder the linens and care for the silver service.

Marion members of Evangelical churches will be interested in the large number of former pastors of churches here who have returned for the Ohio Evangelical Conference session at Calvary church this week.

Four former pastors of Calvary, two of Greenwood, one of Oakland and three of Salem church, a charge east of Marion, are attending conference.

The spirit of brotherly love exudes at Calvary church among the more than 200 pastors and lay delegates meeting there. To enter the church at the closing of a session is to enter a friendly atmosphere.

Wednesday morning the pastors had their first opportunity for "get together" groups at the close of a busy morning. Every man was a "brother" to every other man in the auditorium, and the handshaking between friends rivaled that at the White House when President Hoover gives a reception.

And everyone seems to know everyone else at the conference.

Rev. W. L. Naumann of Canton and his son Rev. L. H. Naumann, one of the few if not the only father and son ministers here for the conference have their seats beside each other in the church auditorium while the conference is in session.

BELIEVE TOURISTS ON INCREASE HERE

Auto Club Secretary Says Calls for Routings Higher Than Last Year.

The volume of tourist travel in Marion this year has not only been on a par with that of previous years, but has shown a slight gain over any recent year, in the opinion of Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Automobile club.

This is indicated by the increasing number of calls for routings at the auto club office, and in other ways, Mrs. Gallagher said. Marion has more than held its own so far as tourist business is concerned, despite the fact that some cities report tourists are scarce this year.

Mrs. Gallagher credited the Harding Memorial and the Harding home and museum with attracting many tourists here each year. Marion is also strategically located on both north-south and east-west routes, the club secretary pointed out.

Tourist laden automobiles from seven states were parked in front of the club office at one time last week, the drivers seeking information about routes and detours.

Many vacationists who ordinarily make elaborate plans for the summer have turned to the automobile and scenic drives to points of interest this year, both for economy and for a change, Mrs. Gallagher believes. Meantime, the steady flow of tourists continues as in former years.

There are always some SKEPTICS

IT ANNOYED THIS LADY WHEN HER HUSBAND WENT OUT OF HIS WAY TO REACH A SOHIO STATION

"When my husband drove blocks to reach a Sohio Station, it annoyed me. I thought one kind of gas as good as another. Several weeks ago I was driving in a city that was having a gas war; gasoline was cheap. With a woman's nose for a bargain, I had the tank filled. Next day my husband and I started out for a drive. He soon noticed that the car wasn't performing as usual—'No pep,' he said. When he had to shift gears on a hill that we always made in high, we knew something was wrong. Then it began to dawn on me that perhaps it was the gas I bought yesterday. 'Of course,' said my husband, 'inferior gas!' We drove to a Sohio Station, drained the tank and refilled with Extra-Ethyl. The motor ran smoothly and the pick-up was fine. That convinced me."

After all, it's not so much what we think about Sohio heat-tempered gasolines as it is what you—the folks on the road, think. So here are just a few out of the thousands of actual experiences which Ohio people have had with Sohio products.

If you, too, have been skeptical we hope these actual experiences will suggest you may be missing something if you haven't given Sohio's two great new gasolines a trial.

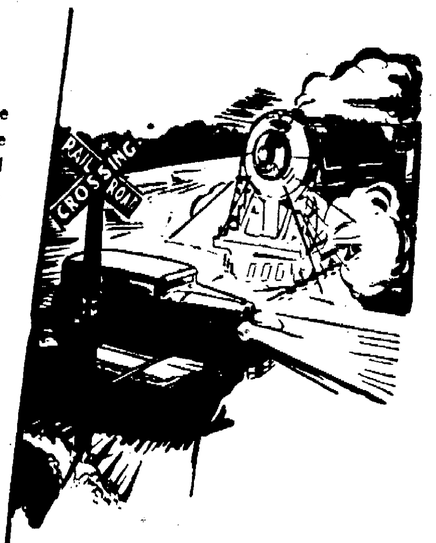
"BIG CLAIMS WERE MADE FOR THIS NEW GASOLINE, BUT THEY HAD TO SHOW ME"

. . . said this Willys-Knight owner

"After driving my present car a short time, I became disappointed with its performance. It didn't measure up to claims of the salesman. Then Sohio Ethyl heat-tempered gasoline came out. Big ads. Big claims, were made for this new gasoline. I was skeptical. They had to show me—and believe it or not they did—on the first tankful. And right here I want to tell you of an incident that happened shortly after this that caused me to put a priceless value on possibly a few drops of Sohio Ethyl. I was traveling over a narrow, lightly traveled road late at night, through a hilly country. The road was winding and before I realized it my front wheels were on a railroad crossing. At that moment there was a roar! A flash of light! Instantly into second gear—tramping her to the floor! Folks, I believe that car jumped four feet.

Do you blame me for preferring Sohio Ethyl?"

(Actual letter received from Willys-Knight owner of Wilmington)



"JUST ANOTHER BIG AD" SAID FRIEND

. . . but now he uses X-70 too . . .

"Sohio heat-tempered gasoline is great stuff. Prior to the sale of X-70 I was indifferent in my selection of gas. Thought, why bother, it's all the same. How different, since Floyd Gibbons' broadcast. Floyd proved to be modest. It's an inspired fuel.

A close friend (name on request) and myself bought our Pontiacs a week apart. He was a sticker for a certain gas. I said, have you tried X-70? His answer was—'Just a big money ad by a big corporation.' I challenged him. Here are the real facts:

Trimmed him unmercifully from a standing start. Went around him on a good stretch, with little labor. Waved good-bye to the hills (one in particular out of West Liberty). Got 1.6 miles more per gallon on one-hundred mile check-up. He now uses X-70.

'Nuf 'ced. Not a knock in a tank car."

CONVICTED SLAYER FREED BY GOVERNOR

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Walter Brockman, of Cincinnati, after serving 10 years in Ohio penitentiary on a second degree murder charge, was free today, by a commutation of sentence granted by Governor White.

Brockman was convicted after three trials for complicity in the murder of Harlan Brate, who was killed during a holdup. Brockman was indicted for the murder, along with William Tieman and Raymond Kingsburg.

During his imprisonment, Brockman maintained steadily that he was not guilty.

SIX INJURED WHEN PARK SWING FALLS

Cables Snap As Children Fill Aerial Cab

By International News Service

AKRON, O., Aug. 20. — Injured when cables of an imitation airplane swing snapped at the Summit Beach amusement park here, six persons, five of them children today were reported recovering in hospitals.

The injured are Herbert Miller, 4, of Cuyahoga Falls; Lillian Zelman, 13, Julia Kodish, 17, Janet Dienoff, 17, Robert Dosch, 9, all of Akron, and Mrs. Edna Peters, 35, of Tyrone, Pa.

The Miller child was the most seriously injured. He suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. Mrs. Peters was struck as she walked beneath the swing.

The accident occurred just after the swing had been started in motion, probably preventing more serious injuries to the riders because of the slow speed at which the apparatus was moving. Oxidation caused by moisture was blamed for the accident by C. A. Sarchet, manager of the park fall, receiving weather messages that for her spelled another night off the wild little island which even mariners approach with caution.

Sleepless Night Looms

Whether the Lindberghs would remain aboard their floating plane tonight or abandon it temporarily for more comfortable quarters aboard the nearby ship was not stated. Aviation authorities here said Mrs. Lindbergh probably would sleep aboard the ship but that Lindbergh likely would stick with his plane despite the prospect of another sleepless night.

Wireless reports late tonight said Lindbergh was working on the motor but the repairs had not yet been completed. The colonel was represented as being hopeful that the trouble soon would be remedied and that they would be able to take off at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning (3 p. m., Marion time today) for Muroton bay or Nemuro if the weather cleared

The Shimushiru Maru transmitted tonight's messages from its position on the north side of Ketoi island. It had towed the plane there from the south side of the island.

Difficulty was experienced in the towing because of a rough sea and breaking of tow lines. The ship's captain expressed some anxiety because of the threatening weather and said he hoped it would be possible for the Lindberghs to reach Muroton bay tomorrow.

At Muroton bay the cache of supplies for Seiji Yoshihara, Japanese aviator, who recently failed in two attempts to fly to America via the Kurile and the Aleuutian islands, was placed at the disposal of the Lindberghs. Yoshihara smashed his plane in landing on the rough waters near Mutoton bay.

KENTUCKY WINS IN RIVER BRIDGE SUIT

Jury Sets Price for Land on Ohio Side at $500; Company Asked $25,000.

By The Associated Press

GEORGETOWN, O., Aug. 20 — The state of Kentucky was victor today in its condemnation suit against the Maysville Bridge Co., a jury holding that the commonwealth should pay from $500 to $600 for a small plot of ground for an Ohio river bridge approach rather than $25,000 which the bridge concern demanded for the land.

The bridge is being constructed across the river joining Maysville with Aberdeen, O. It is to be operated as a toll bridge and the State had to secure a right of way from the bridge concern which had purchased two small lots on the Ohio side for an approach.

Unofficially the bridge company was reported to have paid $250 for the lots and the state offered to buy the rights of way for $300. The bridge firm asked $25,000, a price the Kentucky highway commission called unreasonable and condemnation proceedings were instituted.

Jury men said the state should pay $450 for the land taken, $50 damage to a small residence and an additional $50 to $100 for the removal of the building from the right of way.

possible to prpvide sufficient funds."

This responsibility, the association said, rests with the states, some of which already have made provisions for handling the situation.

Wheat Plan Offered

Gifford's organization will be given hundreds of relief suggestions received in recent weeks at the White House and by the emergency committee. Among them will be one made by Carl Williams, Farm Board member, who recommended that Community Chest organizations purchase from the board some of its surplus wheat and distribute it to the needy in the form of bread.

A committee from the United States chamber of commerce also will have a report on the subject of unemployment relief ready for the President by Sept. 1.

The labor department statement on July employment showed a decrease of employment of 2 per cent in 15 industrial groups during the month and a payroll decrease of 4.8 per cent.

MONEY GONE--CITY FACES NEW PROBLEM

Cermak Expresses Concern as "Payless Pay-Days" Loom.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—Mayor Anton J. Cermak expressed fear yesterday that Chicago's city hall might have to close, due to the city's lack of money.

"Unless the legislature finds a way to come to the aid of Chicago and Cook county," he said, "we will have to close the city hall. But we must find ways to maintain the police and fire departments and the teachers."

The mayor's fears were expressed to a delegation of men and women who called seeking his aid in behalf of the unemployed and poverty-stricken residents of Chicago.

He said he favored a state income tax as a means of relieving the state, county and municipal governmental problems, and revealed that Governor L. L. Emmerson's employment commission was planning to appeal to President Hoover to call a special session of congress to seek ways of meeting the unemployment situation.

Twenty thousand city employes, City Comptroller Szymczak said, would meet continued "payless pay days" after Sept. 1. "The monthly pay roll is $3,000,000." he said.

Meanwhile Chicago charitable organizations planned to begin a cooperative campaign to obtain $8,800,000 to relieve the needy in the year starting Oct. 1.

SEEK INFORMATION OF MISSING IMPORTER

Japanese Merchant of Connecticut Disappears from Liner During Cruise.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—The mysterious disappearance of Hisaah Fujimura, Japanese importer, of Norwalk, Conn., from the liner Belgenland last week will be investigated by a federal grand jury.

Assistant United States Attorney Lumbard announced that Miss Mary Reissner, showgirl companion of the Japanese on a six-day cruise to Halifax, had been asked to appear before the grand jury Monday. She was questioned for six hours in private yesterday.

Lumbard said Miss Reissner had been friendly with the Japanese for several months before she sailed with him and his seven-year-old daughter on the Belgenland cruise.

Miss Reissner, known on the stage as Mary Dale, said she attended a shipboard party last Friday given by Miss Mildred Harris, former wife of Charles Chaplin. She was gone for three hours. On her return to her stateroom, she told federal authorities, Fujimura was gone. It was not until 6 a. m., several hours after her return that a steward was notified the importer was missing. Miss Harris' was in the cast of a show given on the cruise.

A reward of $5,000 has been offered by the missing man's firm for information of him.

Gasoline Pump Explodes When Hit by Car, Spraying Liquid Fire.

By The Associated Press

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20—Two men died of burns today and four other persons were in a serious condition as the result of a strange accident last night when a gasoline pump, into which an automobile had crashed, exploded and sprayed passersby with liquid fire.

The automobile which was driven by Edward Little, police constable, collided with the pump in an attempt to avoid striking three pedestrians.

Two of the pedestrians—Hebert Emmerson and Thomas Conroy, both of Toronto—died today of burns. The third, William Daly, was seriously burned but may live, doctors said.

Miss Helen Bugak and John Morrison, who were walking by at the time of the explosion, were severely burned. Constable Little escaped injury.

Sponsors of the plan told the assembly that their first move was to "mold public sentiment" for the betterment of the local nidustry, beset by evils of over-production, competition and labor troubles

Indorse Plan

The stabilization was indorsed, as presented "subject to revision acceptable to operators, miners and public alike."

It would form a new competitive field comprising western Pennsylvania, easern Ohio, the Panhandle of West Virginia and the Morgantown, Fairmont and Kanawha districts in West Virginia.

The plan set forth that state and governmental control was not advocated; that state guidance for legal reasons was necessary. It further proposed that a tribunal, "impartial and free of politics, formed by the governors of the named commonwealths ,composed preferably of the presidents of the three state universities," be set up. This tribunal would form the operators into a unit and retain impartial engineers to make a thorough and complete survey.

INVESTIGATE CRASH OF PASSENGER PLANE

Six Injured as Chicago-New York Ship Misses Pittsburgh Landing Field.

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20 — Officials of the Transcontinental & Western air lines today began an investigation of the crash of a Chicago-New York plane at rain-soaked Bettis field last night in which six persons, including two pilots, were injured.

The plane zoomed in from the west during a blinding rainstorm. The pilots planned to "anchor" the plane for the night due to unfavorable weather over the Alleghenies.

As it touched the earth at the boundary line of Bettis field, the big ship skidded, shot off the crown of a 25-foot embankment and when it struck the ground again, nosed into the mud, wrecking the undercarriage and breaking the wings.

The injured were:

A. D. Smith, 44, of Harrisburg, Pa., pilot, possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

Harry Downes, 26, of Columbus, O., co-pilot, severe lacerations and bruises.

Fred Nelson, manager of the Harrisburg, Va., airport, cuts and bruises.

Mrs. T. J. Russel of Newark, N. J., fractured ribs and probable internal injuries.

Forrest Webster, 36, of Milwaukee, facial lacerations.

R. W. Donahue of Columbus, O. facial lacerations.

CONFERENCE TO ACT ON PASTOR PROPOSAL

Extension of Time-Limit on Length of Service Sought at Meeting.

which Bishop Dunlap gave a meditation on the subject, "The Supreme Challenge," in which he said he had reference to the testing of St. Peter when Jesus said to him, "Lovest Thou Me?"

Bishop Speaks

He spoke as follows: "The love of God will hold us true in all times and under all circumstances. We have outstanding characteristics that make us useful in the Kingdom of God and in the community where we live and labor. These characteristics are humility, self denial and fidelity. We may have machinery and organization in our local, state and general churches, but machinery and organization are not power. They are mere channels through which God moves."

A joint resolution was passed in memory of Rev. W. E. Bailey of Mansfield who died recently. He was succeeded by Rev. LeRoy Deininger of Marion.

The conference voted on recommendations passed by the general conferences concerning minor changes in discipline concerning the under-organizations of the church, including the Christian Endeavor societies. The changes consisted mostly of parliamentary procedure to be used at all meetings.

Candidates recommended for the order of an elder in the church are: Rev. E. A. Rothgeb of Republic; Rev. R. A. Krisher of Lancaster; Rev. H. G. Deeds of Redhaw; Rev. W. J. Shawk of Independence; Rev. O. V. Latta of Niles and Rev. A. E. McVey of Youngstown.

The session yesterday afternoon included meetings of the Ohio Conference Missionary society and the Student Aid society ,both orders transacting business of importance to their groups.

Last night five men from institutions and offices of the church gave 15-minute addresses, the most vital of which probably was the address given by Rev. J. R. Niegarth of Cleveland, treasurer of the superannuation fund. The fund is for pensioning ministers and to provide for their widows.

To Distribute $130,000

In the coming year, the fund will distribute $130,000 to families of pastors. There are 396 families on the fund list. In the 20 years the fund has been in existence, $800,000 has been distributed. In response to questions regarding the safety of the nearly $2,000,000 fund invested Rev. Mr Niegarth stated that the money is in first mortgages on Cleveland real estate and that he has the assurance of Cleveland bankers that the money is in sound hands.

Rev. F. W. Heubner, superintendent of the Ebenezer Orphan home at Flat Rock, O., gave a report of the activities of the institution. The problems faced by the officers include the increase in applications for admittance to the home and the question of where to send the boys and girls after they have reached the ages from 16 to 18.

The great spiritual and Christian forces at work at North Central college at Naperville, Ill., were the outstanding points brought out by Prof. E. E. Domm of the college.

School's Aims Outlined

Sixty-seven per cent of the students enrolled at Evangelical Thoological seminary at Naperville, have college degrees, Prof. H. H. Heininger pointed out. The aims of the seminary are to give the men a definite and thorough knowledge of the gospel of Christ, that they become preachers of the gospel in the age in which they live and to teach them to preach a gospel that will bring Christ and the people together.

Rev. W. E. Peffley of Lemoyne, Pa., talked on the staff of the church publication, speaking of the work that is done through these mediums of the church organization.

Bishop J. F. Dunlap presided and the senior choir of the church sang, directed by LeRoy Zachman.

Missionary Society Meets

The session yesterday afternoon was opened by Bishop Dunlap and a prayer by Rev. J. R. Dallas of Toledo. The conference then was recessed in favor of the Ohio Conference Missionary society with Rev. N. W. Sager of Bucyrus, president, in charge. Rev. H. B. Masters of Kenmore is secretary and Rev. L. C. Hoover of Upper Sandusky is treasurer. The annual address was read by the president, after which Rev. C. L. Allen, of Columbus, former pastor of Calvary church who was delegate to the general board of missions which meet in Milwaukee last October, presented his report.

Trustees elected to the society are Rev. H. B. Masters of Kenmore, Rev. E. F. Stephan of Upper Sandusky, Rev. Mr. Sager, Rev. Mr. Hoover, Rev. Mr. Allen and Rev. G. F. Ebel of Canton.

After a short session of the Ohio conference in which Rev. W. L. Bollman, general secretary of the Parent Missionary society, with offices in Cleveland, gave an inspirational and informative address including a survey of the missionary operations and needs, the conference recessed in favor of the Student Aid society, an organization to assist finacially young men who are preparing for the ministry.

Officers Reelected

Rev. Mr. Allen is president of the society, Rev. C. L. Kern of Ashland is secretary and H. E. Kiess of Bucyrus is treasurer. The officers were reelected and the two trustees whose time expired this year, Rev. W. L. Naumann of Cleveland and Mr. Kiess, were reelected.

Professor Heininger of the Evangelical Theological seminary at Naperville, gave an address, speaking of the value of the Student Aid society to the seminary and Rev. H. H. Maxwell, pastor of Grace church of Marion, spoke of the value of the society from the viewpoint of a student.

Tellers for balloting during the conference were named in three groups as follows:

Group 1: Rev. W. J. Shawk of Independence; Rev. O. V. Latta of Niles; Rev. S. S. Davis of Canton; Rev. G. N. Perkins of Upper Sandusky.

Group 2: Rev. E. N. Gallagher of Columbus; Rev. W. A. Moyer of North Lima; Rev. August Kehr of Perrysburg; Rev. O. R. Reiff of Nellie, O.

Group 3: Rev. Mr. Dute of Tonawanda, N. Y.; Rev. E. L. Zachman of Wellsville; Rev. A. E. McVey of Youngstown; Rev. R. A. Krisher of Lancaster.

SENATE HIGHWAY PROBE ADJOURNED

Witness Tells Committee of Alleged Overpayments to Contractors.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Investigation of the affairs of the Ohio highways department will be resumed Sept. 1. The senate committee making the inquiry adjourned after a witness yesterday told of alleged overpayment of thousands of dollars to a Belmont county contracting firm.

W. R. Greenlun, assistant resident engineer, testified the Williamson, Howard and Smith contracting firm was paid for excavating 106,000 yards of dirt at 70 cents a yard but removed only about 60,000 yards. The excavation was made yesterday by a landslide in 1929 while the Ohio River road was being improved between Shadyside and Big Run mine in Belmont county.

Greenlun said he supervised the work for several months and then was unexpectedly taken from the job after he had resisted attempts at bribery.

Although the excavation work was in addition to the original road contract, Greenlun said, no bids were asked as required by law. Only after the work was done was a new contract prepared, he said, adding that the contractors told him "their salvation depended upon getting as much yardage out of this slide as possible."

DEATH TAKES WOMAN AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. L. W. Myers, Prominent Church Worker, Succumbs at City Hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Wiley Myers, 33, of 934 Uncapher avenue, active worker in the young people's and missionary groups at First United Brethren church, died today at 11:30 a. m. at City hospital following an abdominal operation Monday.

Mrs. Myers' marriage on May 28, 1929 to Arthur W. Myers, took place in the Frederick C. Smith clinic, where Mr. Myers lay ill. Their plans for a wedding had been disrupted several times, and the clinic marriage took place on the day they had planned a larger wedding.

She was born Sept. 7, 1897, in Dayton, to James E. Wiley, a native of Tennessee, and Laura Melcher Wiley, a native of Crawford county. Her mother died 12 years ago.

Surviving are her husband and father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wiley. Besides her membership and activities at the United Brethren church, Mrs. Myers was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Mrs. Myers came to Marion in 1914. She was graduated from Harding High school in the class of 1923.

The funeral will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the home and at 2:30 p. m. at the United Brethren church with Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor, officiating. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery.

Daily Proverb—"The very autumn of a form once fine retains its beauties."

The Chicago city council abolished 122 city jobs, one night this week. It must be shocking to "Big Bill" Thompson to see his carefully-constructed political machine thus torn apart, bit by bit.

Tammany demands that Governor Roosevelt extend the investigation in New York City to the Republican cities up state. The Tammany idea seemingly is that it can prove its innocence of corruption by developing corruption elsewhere.

Manuel Trucco, former director general of Chilean railways, has succeeded Juan Estaban Montero, who resigned as acting president of Chile Monday. It just naturally requires a card index system to keep tab on the heads of Latin-American governments, these days.

"Butch" Vogel, one of Chicago's "public enemies," was shot and wounded by a bandit, the other day, when he refused to give up a big diamond ring he was wearing, introducing himself as the "big guy" in that district. It has come to a pretty pass when Chicago's notables are treated with such utter lack of respect!

Federal prosecutors are said to be hopeful that their income tax campaign against hoodlums and grafting politicians will result in half a dozen commitments to Leavenworth. At this distance, half a dozen convictions up there wouldn't look like even a drop in a bucket of water.

The Tennessee woman evangelist bitten Wednesday of last week by a rattlesnake, following her boast that no snake would bite her because of her faith, is recovering, but it may be just as well if none of her followers emulates her faith test. It may be noted that her faith was a little bit wiggly, "or somethin'," and that of an emulator might not prove even so strong.

Another mail pouch on the Leviathan has been rifled, the second within a few weeks. It's hard to understand how such robberies can be pulled off and the robbers be able to escape when they haven't the slightest chance in the world to get away in a "big, black, high-powered car."

Insurance To Answer a Need.

This week was marked by the introduction of an absolutely new form of burglary and robbery insurance, a policy so comprehensive as to carry protection against practically every form of modern criminal enterprise by violence. It is described by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters as "an answer to the universal need of the small shopkeeper to obtain blanket coverage." Because of the fact that the new insurance is sold at a flat premium charge, it costs but a fraction of what the insured has previously had to pay for anything like similar protection.

The new policy, which was designed especially for small merchants in cities, villages and rural districts, not only covers burglary and robbery as indicated, but also kidnapping involving the compulsory opening of a safe by the victim, hold-ups either in a store or on the street, robbery in the home of money or securities used in the business of the insured, burglary from a bank's night depository, property damage growing out of a burglary or robbery and safe and open-stock burglaries. It is called the "store-keepers burglary and robbery" policy, but as indicated herein the name hardly begins to tell the story.

The announcement of the national bureau of the underwriters, which refers to it as "the new all-inclusive policy," states that it "is free from exclusions and offers 'continuity insurance,' by which is meant that full protection is afforded for the policy term without additional premium charges no matter how many bona fide robberies there may have been during that term."

The rates for the policy, which provides for a total liability of $1,750 divided into seven indemnity paragraphs affording $250 each, vary according to the location for which the policy is issued, ranging from a maximum charge of $50 for such areas as Chicago and Cook county and Detroit and Wayne county down to $35 for communities in such states as Florida, Nebraska and Minnesota. Strange to relate, this minimum rate applies to the Bronx and Queens county in New York, which may be taken to indicate that the company issuing the policy figures the risk to be run in Cook county, Illinois, and Wayne county, Michigan, is almost one half greater than in counties adjacent to New York.

There is no ground for disputing the statement that there is a need for such a form of insurance as that of the policy made effective this week, and there no doubt will be demand for it, but the fact that there is recognized need for it is a sad reflection upon the trend of the times.

Contrasting Pictures.

From London come reports that an economy program calling for drastic cuts in the British budget will be laid before a special session of parliament the first week in September. Just what these cuts will be is not yet known and will not be for some time, as the cabinet committee made up of Premier MacDonald, Foreign Secretary Henderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden, Dominions Secretary Thomas and William Graham, president of the board of trade, did not report to the entire cabinet until Wednesday and its decisions were not presented to a joint meeting of the general council of the trade union congress and the national executive committee of the Labor party until today.

But there is ample indication that it is the intention of the Labor government to make most decided slashes in governmental expenses to meet the threatened deficit of £120,000,000, approximately $600,000,000. This is made plain by the appeals of Premier MacDonald, Home Secretary Clynes and other British leaders to the people of Britain to prepare themselves for sacrifices, and the calling into council of its political foes, Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative premier; Neville Chamberlain, former Conservative chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir Herbert Samuel, emergency chief of the Liberals during the convalescence of David Lloyd George. It is no secret that Premier MacDonald asked the Conservative and Liberal leaders thus summoned to stand with the government in the planned budget cut "for the good of the country" in the face of the financial crisis which must be overcome. Were all less lacking to show that the Labor government contemplates radical action in budget slicing it would be had in the premier's appeal to the British people to meet the situation in a manner reminiscent of World war times and be prepared to tighten their belts, if necessary, to overcome it.

How different the situation there and over here. Great Britain preparing to make sacrifices to meet a threatened deficit of $600,000,000, and opposition party leaders supporting the government to accomplish that end. Here in the United States various elements in congress planning to increase expenditures in the face of a $1,000,000,000 deficit, opposition party leaders and Republican renegades sniping at the administration. In Britain, country is put above party. Here at home, party and a desire for publicity, if not vengeance, put above country.

The head of a big system of chain stores in this country and in Europe says that European business generally is showing improvement, noticeably so in Germany and Great Britain and especially in France and that the business of his organization improved over $2,000,000 in July over its business of June. Looks reasonable enough—save his reference to France. Can it be that the French have abandoned their age-old policy and gone to spending?

Not only was the "sweetie" of that New Jersey state senator, who was shot by her during a quarrel, drawing pay from the state, but it has been revealed that a railroad pass had been issued to her as a "senate committee clerk." New Jersey is mighty accommodating in paying for the amours of its legislators.

The state board of control has authorized the expenditure of $296,000 for the construction of a plant to heat and light the penitentiary and the state office building, no provision for the heating of the latter structure having been made in the plans. By the time the state has completed and equipped the building designed to adorn the Columbus water-front civic center it will find that it has some expensive structure on its hands, all right.

While the premiums on ocean risks written in this country fell off something like $5,000,000 in 1930 from the total of 1929, the fact that they amounted to $50,740,000 on hulls and cargoes last year indicates the mighty volume of sea transportation last year, despite world-wide business recession.

It will hardly do for Americans to become overly incensed at the action of Japan in fining Pangborn and Herndon $1,025 each for taking photographs of Japanese fortified areas. A day or two ago Captain Frank Hawks, holder of almost countless speed records, was fined $500 by American customs officials here in his own country for landing illegally in the United States after a flight to Montreal, having failed to report at either Swanton, Vermont, or Plattsburgh, New York, the nearest ports of entry.

A Lighthouse Keeper Dies.

The beacon in a lighthouse far out in Long Island sound off Stamford, Connecticut, did not appear last Friday night, and when a lighthouse service tender arrived to investigate, it was found that for two nights and three days the light had burned as the funeral taper of Raymond Bliden, its keeper.

Two brothers who manned the tender found the oil tanks empty. They replenished them, and lighted the beacon again. The last entry in Bliden's log was made Wednesday at 3 p. m.

All night the brothers tended the light, and at dawn they went down on the rocks where they found Bliden's capsized small boat and, further on, his body floating in a little cove. He had drowned on one of his infrequent trips back to Stamford for supplies, and the few minutes of association with fellowmen that he was permitted once a month.

Bliden was the only inhabitant of the little dot in the sound, a piece of rock on which rose a steel cylinder topped with the beacon. It is a dangerous spot, surrounded by rough water. The keeper knew that he might never return from the trip, so he set the light to burning before he left although it was still the middle of the afternoon, and when night came the beacon rays flashed on his body floating where the waves lapped the rock.

There is something of a mystery, the loneliness and the inevitable menace of the sea in this simple story of the man who lived and died in self-imposed solitary confinement more absolute than any prison can provide in order that the lane of the sea might be made safe for men who move upon the highways of the deep.

Editorial Opinion.

AND TEARS FOR SUCH AS THESE!

Lacking capital punishment, Michigan has just sent to the penitentiary for life the confessed principals in a wholesale murder so revolting as to make the crimes of the late Jesse James appear, by contrast, the pranks of a mischievous youth.

That these three brutes will remain behind the bars so long as they live seems reasonably certain. Any move for paroles or pardons, even thirty or forty years hence, would arouse a storm of protest throughout the state.

And in the long meantime, what is going to keep these brutish fiends tractable and relatively harmless, save only the fear of certain and severe disciplinary punishment inside the prison?

Yet if the majority of the members of the Wickersham commission could have their way, if the thousands of soft-hearted men and women who have credulously accepted the commission's own credulous acceptance of the yarns of former convicts could have their way, these murderers would be protected by law from any form of prison punishment that men of their nature could understand or would heed.

These men and women who cry out against any prison disciplinary measure more drastic than a polite rebuke or suspension of radio privileges seem, for some strange reason, unable to realize that prison populations are made up largely of cruel and conscienceless monsters who, as Warden J. J. Sullivan, of Minnesota, so truly says, would as soon stick a knife through a keeper as look at him.

Consider these three men who have just entered the Michigan penitentiary. In the hope of gaining a handful of small change as loot, they are willing to club and shoot to death two boys and two young girls and to set fire to their still warm bodies; yes, and to do even worse than that. But if Michigan prison officials so much as place in solitary confinement creatures capable of such horrible misdeeds, the Wickershams and their sisters will indict Michigan as cruel and barbarous.—Minneapolis Journal.

A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY.

Seventy-three years ago Monday the first message was sent over the Atlantic cable. We are so accustomed now to read in the evening newspaper the news of the day from the furthermost parts of the earth, that it is difficult to put ourselves in the place of our grandparents, who read only such news from Europe as had come in the slow-sailing vessels of that day—weeks after the events described had happened.

It was the next step after the telegraph in the way of facilitating long-distance communication, and as wonderful in its time, as the invention of wireless telegraphy and the radio in our time. For this reason the name of Cyrus Field will stand with Morse, and Bell, and Marconi as noted factors in the progress of civilization.

Some one has said that the inventions which have tended to eliminate time and distance have contributed more to the progress of the human race than any others. This has been the effect of the contributions made to science by the men mentioned above, and they have brought widely separated people into close relations, and in that way these inventors have contributed probably more than any statesman to the peace, understanding and good will of the peoples of the world. It was a notable world event when that first message was sent under the Atlantic on August 17, 1858.—Columbus Dispatch.

And Then Some.

What Will Better Marion?

The following is the answer of one citizen to the question, "What Will Better Marion?"—the second in the questionnaire circulated by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer to get a comprehensive insight into the community feeling regarding our home city, in the hope of arriving at a remedy for handicaps, if any, from which Marion may suffer. From day to day, answers of various citizens to the same question will be given publicity on this page.

If we can help each citizen to sense his own responsibility to Marion it would help.

A deeper feeling and understanding among the various organizations that comprise the civic organizations of Marion.

To be able to go ahead in its educational work to such an extent that the Marion schools may become the best in the state. This will mean an increase in educational facilities, and this can only be done by the awakening of the public to the ever-increasing educational demands.

A feeling of respect and obedience to our municipal powers whom we have elected to manage the governmental affairs of our city.

A Cure for Stammering.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Stammering is a common distressing affliction. It has been recognized for many centuries. Only within the past few decades has there been any success in the cure of this condition.

In former times it was believed that stammering resulted from some disturbance in the development of the speech organs. It used to be thought too, that it was caused by coldness of the tongue and that the condition could be removed by drinking wine in moderation because the wine produced heat!

About the middle of the nineteenth century a new theory was advanced. According to this, stammering was due to the fact that the movements of the tongue were retarded. An operation was devised whereby the tongue could be elevated, in the hope and expectation of correcting the trouble. This theory went into the overcrowded wastebasket of discarded ideas.

Although surgery has been proved to be of no direct worth in this condition it has its value in correcting associated defects. Such operations are never performed on the tongue, but are used to remove enlarged and diseased tonsils, adenoids, or to straighten and open a deformed nose.

It is now believed that stammering is the result of impediment in thought and that it is not primarily a disorder of the speech organs.

This disability affects the speech only because speech follows thought. According to this theory there is an inability of the man who stammers to think the words clearly in his mind.

There are special schools for the training of stammerers. Pupils are placed in classes and instructed in simple methods of fluent speech.

Among such methods is group reading, which is done aloud and in unison. Later the pupils read alone. If, at any time, they should stammer the group immediately joins in and thus carries the stammerer over his difficult point. Eventually these pupils find themselves reading alone and gradually they overcome the stammering.

Tremendous strides have been made within the past decade in the study of stammering. Old ideas have been placed on the shelf. New ideas are constantly being tried. It is hoped that in time an effectual treatment for stammering will be established. Then thousands and thousands of children will be relieved from suffering and humiliation.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A READER. Q—What causes a cracking sensation in the bones?

A—This is usually due to a lack of synovial fluid around the joints. It may also indicate a rheumatic tendency. Be sure there is no infection in the system. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

P.J.K. Q—Is it harmful for an adult to take a daily enema?

A—Yes, enemas are apt to prove weakening and debilitating if taken too often. Be guided by your doctor's judgment in the matter.

SALLY ANN. Q—What causes red hands?

A—This is probable due to poor circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.

• • •

MRS. AUSTIN L. Q—Are cold sores due to an acid condition of the system?

2—What foods are acid in their reaction?

A—Yes, these blemishes are frequently due to acidity. Correct the diet and be sure that the system is clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Some fruits, excessive sweets and red meat are apt to produce an acid condition of the system. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

True Test of Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Einstein has put forward, as the true test of all physical science exactitude of measurement. So universal nowadays is the recognition of this principle among scientists that no efforts, however extended, on experiments, however exhaustive, are shirked, in the effort to arrive at greater degrees of accuracy in measurement. The late A. A. Michelson devoted a great deal of time, all through his life from about twenty until the year of his death, in the effort to determine, with almost inconceivable accuracy, the velocity of light.

One of the most interesting of public institutions in Great Britain is what is known as the National Physical laboratory. It corresponds, in a measure, to the United States bureau of standards. It is not a single "laboratory," but a group of ten large buildings, with other small ones, covering in all some twenty-three acres of ground.

This institution has been in existence only since 1900, and has had only two directors. The first was Sir Richard Glazebrook, who retired in 1918. He was succeeded by the present director, Sir Joseph Petavel. The institution was founded by the Royal society, the purpose being stated: "To carry out research including especially research required for the accurate determination of physical constants, to establish and maintain precise standards of measurement, and to make tests of instruments and materials."

A few illustrations will serve to indicate the accuracy of the work done, and the standards of exactitude maintained, at the National Physical laboratory. The Imperial standard yard is known to be the distance between two points on a bronze bar kept in Trafalgar square, London. An exact copy of this is at the National Physical laboratory, which is located at Teddington. It is a brightly-polished bar with faint scratches on its surface.

All yards have to be compared with this standard yard. The yard to be tested is placed along with the standard yard in a water bath, in order to keep them at he same temperature, and then the length of the yard being tested is found by reading the scratches on the standard bar, by means of microscopes. An error of one-millionth of an inch is unfailingly detected.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

McClellan's Evil Day.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

April 23, 1861, was an evil day in the life of George B. McClellan, according to a friendly biographer of that noted, but unfortunate, general of the Civil war. He spent it in Columbus. McClellan, a native of Pennsylvania, had resigned from the army, and was managing a railroad with headquarters at Cincinnati. He decided to return to the military service, and Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, had asked him to take command of the troops of that state. McClellan started from Cincinnati for Harrisburg to confer with Governor Curtin about that proposition.

But enroute McClellan stopped in Columbus, and met Governor Dennison, who offered him a similar position with the Ohio troops. Apparently, on the spur of the moment, McClellan decided to accept Governor Dennison's offer. But it was found that he was not qualified under the law that had been provided for the organization of the state troops; however the legislature then in session quickly enacted an amendment that every day, at the governor's suggestion, that made it possible to place McClellan, a Pennsylvanian, in command of the Ohio troops, and he was forthwith commissioned a major general.

Taking this position caused him to be sent into West Virginia where he had a number of early engagements, none of them more than skirmishes, but all magnified as important victories by the people of the North, so that when it was urgent that General Scott, then in his dotage, be relieved from the general command, McClellan was the only union commander in the field who seemed to have anything in the way of military success in the war just beginning that indicated him as the man for place, and so Lincoln thus honored him.

The fact was, according to the biographer quoted, McClellan lacked experience to make him qualified for planning and executing large movements of troops in such a great war as was impending. If he had accepted the command of Pennsylvania troops instead, he probably would have made a notably well-trained army of them, and profiting from the early mistakes of others, as they did from his, he would probably have come to high command when he was ready for it and have left a very different record as to his success in the Civil war.

London's Well Governed.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

London, Aug. 20—Nothing perhaps adds such a cheerful chirrup to London as its flower girls, street characters rapidly vanishing since the war. All are called "girls," yet most are women past middle age, swathed in plaid shawls and wearing bobbing straw bonnets.

They address one as "Dearie," and before they can be stopped slip a flower into a lapel. Flower girls are often descendants of grandmothers who button-holed dandies along Pall Mall in Victorian days. They are the first of Londoner's curb hawkers to arise and last to retire.

Catch an early morning train to Dover and a flower girl will peg you before you reach the station. Leave a night club late and one of them is bound to dart out from a dark recess with a bright nosegay. Almost constant rebuffs have not dampened their ardor.

I enjoy, too, watching sidewalk artists—known as "screevers"—who tack canvases on building walls and parapets to sketch, sometimes in charcoal and sometimes in water colors. Nothing pleases them so much as to collect a little knot of watchers.

It is then they "show off," indulging bold sweeps and quick strokes with graceful flourishes. They stand off, cocking their heads this way and that for perspectives, but if the crowd moves off they immediately drop on a camp stool and roll a cigaret. "Screevers" only labor when watched.

Just now unemployment has forced many jobless to unusual stunts to attract attention to their plight. Turning down the Embankment today was a figure moving on all fours. Closer a card pinned on his back read: "Give me a job so I can stand up and face the world like a man!"

Then there is the waggish fellow who could double for Jack Pearl and holds forth near Covent garden holding in outstretched arms a detached pair of handlebars. A card in his cap does not ask alms. It merely reads: "What is left of my bicycle!"

In some ways London is one of the best-governed cities in the world. Traffic is more expertly regulated than in New York, quite a city, too, or Paris, shown by the small number of automobile fatalities. A long resident tells me that he never saw a street fight—the penalties are too severe. The pick-pocket is a rarity. A large percentage of fine London mansions are unlocked at night. Holdups are uncommon.

Every newspaperman the world over hopes some day to see New York's Park row and London's Fleet street—the best advertised newspaper rows of all. Fleet street is a short narrow thoroughfare running down a sharp hill to Ludgate circus. It is liveliest around 5 a. m. when presses are roaring with the final editions for London and provincial England. Reporters are called journalists and look it. Monocles are not infrequent, and canes are as much of a fixture as the vest pocket lead pencil. Secretaries for star journalists make their engagements. Scribes here lack the accustomed blood current. There are ex-American reporters in Fleet street. Also a managing editor and a sprinkling of sub editors. Most I have met "go native" with a broad A and morning coat in a jiffy. One today who has only been here eighteen months has already given "whfle" the bum's rush for "whilst."

This afternoon I was introduced to a recent diverson in London's social life called "stuffing." Around tea tables one is given a pad and pencil and quotations are read from classical books. The one identifying the most authors wins the prize—all higher intelligentsia. I had no idea of being so good. I may give a stuff recital at Carnegie this fall.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Aug. 20—It didn't surprise many persons in Washington when Henry Prather Fletcher announced the other day that he had resigned as chairman of the tariff commission.

As a matter of fact, his acceptance of the post a year ago was the real surprise. Tired after thirty-two years of public service under six presidents, Fletcher had voluntarily quit as ambassador to Italy and returned to private life.

He was in Massachusetts when the White House got him on the telephone. Mr. Hoover wanted him to become chairman of the reorganized tariff commission.

Fletcher said "No." The President repeated his request only to get a more emphatic refusal. And it was not until Mr. Hoover insisted that he could find no one else who could and would do the job that Fletcher agreed.

How well he succeeded is evidenced by the commission's record for the last year, surpassing in volume the work it had done in the seven previous years.

He is credited with having substituted logic for politics in the work of the commission. Bickering was eliminated to such an extent that at the close of the first year the commission worked as a unit—unanimous in all its recommendations to the President.

Fletcher is in his late fifties, rather tall, with snow white hair and a ruddy complexion. His sense of humor has carried him safely through most of the trying incidents of his career.

And they have been many, in war, as well as diplomacy. He quit his law practice to join Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders for the Cuban campaign in the Spanish-American war. After that he went over to the Philippines as a volunteer second lieutenant to fight the insurrectionists.

His love for horseback riding still persists and he is an accomplished horseman.

But it was in the field of diplomacy that he excelled. His long years of service in Central and South America have won for him a popularity and a place in the esteem of government officials of these countries rarely enjoyed.

He accompanied Hoover on his South American trip, prior to the inauguration, in the role of "guide, philosopher and friend" and at every point of call Fletcher was greeted as a long lost brother.

Pan-American papers printed columns about him and the way he was regarded in the countries.

When Ambassador Dawes made his celebrated remark that diplomacy was "easy on the brains, but hell on the feet," Fletcher's observation is typical of the man.

"It depends upon which you use," he said.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO LEAVE FOR OUTING

Salvation Army Board Sponsors Camping Period at Delaware Lake.

Sixteen young people of the Salvation Army will leave Friday morning for Greenwood Lake, the Salvation Army camp at Delaware, for a 10-day camping period sponsored by the advisory board of the organization. The youngsters range in age from 11 to 16 years. It is an endeavor of the salvation Army to send a group to the camp each year. Last year 19 children and one mother were sent. Two atuomobiles are needed to transport the group to the camp and anyone desiring to furnish a car is requested to inform the army headquarters.

More than 200 mothers and children attended the picnic yesterday at Garfield park given by the Salvation Army for their benefit. Games and contests and a dinner featured the day. F. O. Rudolph conducted the afternoon games for the children, including a baseball game. The food remaining after the picnic was distributed among the mothers of the families. Cooperation of Marion merchants was given to make the event possible.

Right after the war you got about TWO tire miles for one cent. Today you get nearer THIRTY

Why buy a Second-Choice Tire when First-Choice costs no more?

You expect bargains these days in everything you buy, but in almost no other article can you find such extraordinary value as in a Goodyear Tire.

Prices are the lowest in the history of the automobile — but, more than that, quality is the highest.

As an example, in 1918 the price of a 30 x 3½ cord (the commonest size) was $41.65. Now, a Goodyear balloon for the same make of car (size 28 x 4.75-19) sells for $8.55.

That's only about a fifth of the price; and it's putting it modestly to say that today's Goodyears will give three times the mileage.

Right after the war you got about two tire miles for a cent. Today you get nearer thirty for a cent from Goodyears.

And that's not saying a word about the incomparably greater comfort and style and safety of the new standard All-Weather Tread Tire as Goodyear builds it now!

Isn't it short-sighted to risk delays and danger on threadbare tires when the first-choice tire of the world can be bought at today's record-breaking low prices?

Of course it is! And when you buy new tires let your common sense answer the question, "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

Former Pastor Officiates at Guthery-Kellogg Nuptials

MISS SUSAN M. GUTHERY, daughter of Mrs Hattie G. Guthery, of 584 Olney avenue and Windsor E. Kellogg of Medina, son of Charles Kellogg of Los Angeles, Calif, were married this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother.

Rev. D. N. Kelly of Bellefontaine, O., former pastor of Wesley M. E. church, read the single ring service in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride was gowned in flowered chiffon of gold and heliotrope tones and carried an arm bouquet of roses. She was unattended. A wedding breakfast was served following the ceremony, at a table centered with garden flowers and with appointments in a color scheme of gold and heliotrope.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg left on a wedding trip, their destination unknown, and later will be at home on west Friendship street in Medina.

Mrs. Kellogg was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. For the last several years she has been head of the department of foreign speech in Central High school in Lima. Mr. Kellogg, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university and affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity, has his Masters degree from Columbia university. He is assistant principal of the Medina High school.

Expert Tells How To Avoid Infection Danger in Manicuring

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

ONLY dead and excess cuticle and nail should be removed if one wishes to avoid all possibility of infection from irritating the delicate tissues which lie at the base of the nails and just under them in what is commonly called the "quick."

Any undue roughness experienced while removing the cuticle, corns from the sides of the nails or calloused spots from the sides of the fingers is apt to bruise those tissues. Once bruised, there is the fear of infection, the most common one being called Paronychia. This infection is not quite as mysterious and strange to us as its name might imply for it is the old-fashioned felon or whitlow, all dressed up in its high scientific garb.

Let's consider the underneath structure of the fingers for a moment,, for only by thoroughly understanding that structure can we be fully aware of the true and potential danger from infection in the nails, cuticle or quick underneath the nails.

It Takes Care

Let's look at our first finger on the left hand. We see a tube-like appendage with two phalanges or joints, not counting the one which joins the finger to the palm or body of the hand. Underneath the skin we have layers of muscle, fat, blood vessels, nerves, membranes and of its being hollow. Inside and bones. We will think of the bone being the center of the finger that bone there are fibrous layers which furnish blood for food. Outside are fibrous layers which furnish attachment for the muscles. The scientific name for these fibrous layers is periosteum, which the dictionary tells us is a membrane of connective tissues which closely invest all bones except at particular surfaces.

At the end of the finger we see the nail and the cuticle surrounding it. If the nails have been properly manicured over a long period of time we find the nail smooth and even in structure, the cuticle smooth and fine in texture. An absence of hangnails, corns and callosities will be noted. Incidentally, corns on the fingers are those bits of hard cuticle which adhere to the sides of the nail itself. Callosities are calloused spots or areas of dead skin which are found on the sides of the finger near the nail.

An infection in a cut around the ends of the fingers means that bacteria have entered in sufficient quantity to cause inflammation. This inflammation increases unless cared for immediately until the membrane, or periosteum around the bone is affected. When sufficient puss-laden blood has tainted the membrane we have a flourishing felon or whitlow.

Be Careful

Many are the hands barred from all possible beauty because of just such a process.

I'm not being a scare-head when I tell you that you should understand just what cutting cuticle carelessly is apt to bring about. In my next article on this subject I'm going to tell you how to inspect your manicuring implements so that greater precautions against cutting and scratching the skin are possible.

Arthur Brisbane's Today

"Legs" Diamond, bootlegger, to jail for four years, fining him $11,000, then, went back remarking, "New York in the way of crime is worse than Chicago."

He also hurt New Yorkers feelings by saying that, enduring all kinds of crime, they remind him of a dog lying on an ant's nest, too lazy to move when the ants bite him.

The gangsters of New York do all they can to justify the judge's opinion. Yesterday they killed two men near New York's police headquarters, spraying the streets with bullets.

And prohibition enforcement is active. New York's collector of the port, sailing along on his "lawful occasions" in the harbor, attracted the attention of the coast guard, who decided that he was a rum runner and opened fire. The collector says: "I am sure they shot in the air just to frighten us."

At about the same time police were raiding a speakeasy in east Fifty-third street, directly back of the residence of John D. Rockefeller Jr.

You know little about your neighbors in these bootleg days.

OUR BRITISH FRIENDS pause in denunciation of our tariff long enough to announce that they also are going to erect a little tariff wall, being forced to come to it.

Germany, also distressed by our tariff, forbids absolutely importation of all articles fully manufactured and now forbids importation of nitrate fertilizers, to prevent competition with Germany's synthetic nitrate manufacturers.

All wise, but, if it is all right for them, why not for us?

"I opened the way for this woman into that home and others into which your chief burglar"—with a glance at Umberto—"has entered. Accuse me, if you like, Mr. Divitt. We will accuse each other. Perhaps the police court will bring out the facts. In any case I'm through."

Divitt was looking at her.

"You're pretty brave now about police courts, aren't you?" he said. "You weren't so brave when you first got here. You've been running around, showing your face and finding nobody that recognized it till you feel safe anywhere. • • •

"Well, let me tell you the police court would be as safe as a mother's arms for me in comparison with what it would be for you. Further than that, you know nothing about me, can prove nothing. What you say is twaddle. But I know everything about you."

Juanita's hand reached gropingly for the chair, found Gabreau's arm instead. She straightened whitely, holding to Gabreau's arm. "You know nothing," she said.

"I know," said Divitt, "that your name is Beatriz Montega. That your home is not in the Argentine, but in Vera Cruz. I know what happened the night of February tenth and that you are now being hunted in every country to which trains and vessels go."

Not turning from her fixed eyes, Divitt picked up a paper knife lying on the desk, held it out on his palm. "A little blade, Senorita Montega—a slender litt e knife in a girl's hand—"

A low cry cut across his words. He smiled, looking down at her where she lay, white and crumpled, at his feet.

Gabreau lifted her in his arms, bore her along the balcony to her room.

April breeze moving in the courtyard, stirring Molly's flowers around the fountain, making a silky whisper among the palms. No other sound, except the faint tinkle of the water, the pad-pad of Conchita's feet as she waddled back and forth between the kitchen and Molly's room.

Gabreau sat with Juanita. During the week that had passed since she had burst with the Marquesa into Divitt's office—had brought the marquesa in as one might bring a sheep-marauding dog back to its owner—Gabreau had sat often in the chair beside Juanita's bed, obeying her least word.

Fever had burned her at first, and there had been nights of delirium, followed at last by a white lassitude when it seemed she would drift out in the barque of the great bed as mysteriously as she had come. Conchita had nursed her in those first days, but Conchita was nursing Molly now.

Somehow the parlors were rocking along without Molly and without Divitt who seldom left Molly's side.

Fifi, the girl who had taken Juanita's place, was gone also, after a dispute with Divitt. Fifi was rather rough in her interpretation of Carmen. A rougher element seemed to be entering the parlors by way of response.

In some way the tidings of Fifi's realism and departure had filtered in to Molly. Molly wrote a tremeulous note to Juanita, asking her to come back and pass the cigarets again. Also, would Juanita come in and see her?

Molly, apparently, had not been told that Juanita was in the house. She had given the note to Gabreau the day after Juanita's return, asking him to get it to Juanita somehow. Gabreau had known that it was useless to give it to Juanita until today.

Today, Jaunita reading the note, coming back to earth with a body spent and a vision strangely clarified, divined that Molly wished to draw her out of the plight she was in. Molly had known, but Molly had not been in accord with that plight.

This knowledge was to Juanita like a light shining faintly in a dark chaotic world. She resolved to go back to the parlors tonight, if she could walk. And to go to see Molly.

"Molly got somep'n' she want to tell you, Garbreau said.

Gabreau had spoken little, sitting at Juanita's side, his long arms dangling over the chair. Juanita liked to see him there. Even to her it had seemed that she was drifting out, that the shore was growing fainter.

"Is Molly very ill, Gabreau?" she asked

He nodded. "No, bebby now," he said.

Juanita, in her weakness, felt the tears. "Poor Molly!" she said

"I think she glad." Garbreau answered quickly. "I don't know, but I think she glad. Dis ain't no place for chill'n."

"They might not have stayed here if it had come. It might have changed everything."

Gabreau smiled, a faint, strange smile that made his sad face sadder still. "Divitt never change," he said.

Juanita covered her eyes. The thought of Divitt brought back the last moment she remembered, the sight of his face, livid with fury, the sound of his words. She had wondered how he had known, who else knew, how soon they would come, hot on her trail, to take her back.

Today Gabreau had told her how Divitt had known.

Gabreau waited table for Divitt and Molly. One morning at breakfast, shortly after Juanita had gone with the marquesa, Divitt had opened a paper that had come to him through the mail.

He had presently handed it to Molly, and Molly's exclamation had led Gabreau to peer over her shoulder. He had seen Juanita's picture and beneath it the word "Missing."

He had not had time to read more before Divitt had ordered him sharply to bring in the rolls. Gabreau did not know the name of the paper. It had been printed in English, but it might have been a Mexican paper . . . Divitt had said to Molly, "I uncovered something that time."

Ay, Dios, yes! . . .

There was a measure of relief in knowing that only Divitt knew, in knowing that Divitt had known for weeks and had done nothing, was holding his knowledge merely as a whip to drive her, to prevent his own exposure.

But he could not drive her far—never back into the world beside the marquesa. There was another way than that. . . . Brown, sluggish waters, not so far away.

She remembered what Kirk had told her as the yacht was flying down the river into the Gulf. . . . 'A fellow I knew dived into this old Mississippi on a bet and never came up. They couldn't even find him. It does that. . . ."

Murky, immense, cruel—she had hated to look at the river then. Kirk was beside her in the sunlight. The past seemed blotted out for the moment. She had known nothing of the marquesa's mission. But now her closed eyes looked on the waters unafraid.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dickey Succumbs to the Masculine Propensity for Saying "I Told You So."

RACK my brain as I might, I could find no solution for the problem which Lillian's query brought me. I must tell her that Philip Veritzen wished certain revisions in the third act of my play and at the same time I must decline the aid which I knew she would instantly proffer. She could not help but count my refusal a most ungracious gesture in the face of the night before when she had not closed her eyes because she was typing my third act from my dictation.

"Yes," I said reluctantly, "he wants a few changes made."

"Where?" Lillian demanded excitedly.

"I haven't time to tell you anything," I said, seizing on the first loophole of escape and hoping that before I saw her again I would be able to think of some way of parrying her request without wounding her. "Dicky made me promise that I would come directly to his room as soon as Mr. Veritzen left and tell him the news."

"Then you had better be traveling pronto," she said drily. "The Dicky-bird isn't a particularly patient raven, and is apt to caw raucously if he fancies himself neglected. I can wait to hear about the glory details later. Phil likes it, that's the main news. Congratulations, old dear, you certainly turned a nifty trick this time."

She gave me an affectionate little pat upon the shoulder and went back into the living room.

Now for Dicky

For the moment I had successfully skirted the danger of wounding her. But there still remained the problem of how to manage her offer of aid without letting her see again the speeches of Vickers. She had typed them without sensing their connection with Dicky. But I knew she would recognize the caricature of Dicky which I subconsciously had depicted in Vickers as soon as she should read those speeches over again.

Useless to worry about it now, however, I told myself, as I climbed the stairs to the second floor. I knew my own brain well enough to know that I could not aid its processes by anxiety. If I put the whole matter out of my mind, some solution of the problem might "wing its way out of the ether" to me.

As I neared Dicky's door I wondered at the slowness of my feet, then realized with a shamefaced scoring of my pettiness that the joy of my good news of success was marred by the fact that I had to acknowledge to Dicky the correctness of his forecase—Philip Veritzen had practically—if not literally—"tossed Vickers into the incinerator."

I stood outside of his door for several seconds flagellating myself for my meanness of spirit. Finally, feeling that I had exercised that particular little demon, I knocked at his door.

That Dicky had been eagerly awaiting my arrival I knew, when his door opened almost at my knock, and he caught my hand and drew me into the room.

"Well?" he said, even before I had closed the door. "Did he like it?"

I mentally saluted him for his unselfishness. He had said no word of the character, Vickers, my subconscious caricature of himself, to which he had objected. It would have been natural for him to have been most concerned with that part of my news. But, instead, all his attention seemed focused on the question of the success or failure of my third act, in Philip Veritzen's opinion.

"Yes, he liked it and, Dicky, you were absolutely right, the only thing he did not like in that third act was the character, Vickers."

Right there Dicky's magnanimity succumbed to the masculine propensity for saying, "I told you so."

"Remember, I said he'd toss that character out," he said.

My own lofty resolve failed to function for a minute.

"But he didn't," I said shortly.

Dicky's eyebrows knitted.

"I thought you said Phil didn't like it," he said.

"He didn't," I returned, and then with the urge for confession upon me added hurriedly:

"He said I must have created him while in the throes of a nightmare."

Dicky's face cleared and he grinned widely at me.

"Well, that's what you claimed, wasn't it? That you wrote all those speeches subconsciously?"

"It wasn't a claim, it was a fact," I said emphatically, "but I didn't realize what awful stuff I had written until I had to read the speeches aloud to Mr. Veritzen."

Dicky's face clouded again.

"Veritzen mustn't think they were so awful if he is going to use any of them," he said.

"That's just what's bothering me," I said. "He wants the character of Vickers left in, because he thinks it will entail too much interference with the present construction of the act to take him out, but he wants the speeches changed entirely or dropped."

"That ought not to be hard," Dicky said speculatively, and something in his eyes told me how I could solve the problem of revising my third act without Lillian's aid.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

THURSDAY. Fair and bammy

And I was glad of it when I got out of bed and looked out of the window, because today was our day to go to the flying field and watch the airplanes come in, and when I had let Jubilee down and had put on my short britches and went down and milked the cows the whole bunch was there, and they were all talking about flying. When I went in to feed my face I didn't say anything about airplanes. My folks might not have told me not to go but they might have. A boy's folks are funny about some things. They are always trying to find out what he wants to do so they can tell him not to do it. I won't be like that when I get to be a father, maybe.

When we started for the pasture Maggie and Younias and Feeble said it would not be any use for them to go all the way out there and turn around and come right back, so they waited on a corner for us and we came back running. It was quite a long ways to the air field and there were a lot of autos and people and dogs there, and then all at once someone hollered that they were coming and an airplane dropped down out of the sky and skidded almost to where we were, and then more and more came until there were 17 of them, and some of them had three propellers. And a lot of them were putting gas in them and a lot of men and ladies looking at them, and when one one-propeller got its gas and we were looking at it the man asted Younias if she would like to get in it, but she told him to let me, and he lifted me up to put me in but I spread out all the arms and legs I had like a spider so he couldn't put me in, but the Lost Bag of Tripe hollered "Scairty!" So I folded up and went in.

The man was a nice fella and showed me about everything, and then he asted me if I would like to go up. I said, "No sir, some;" so he buckled a strap acrosst my lap and climb in the front seat. I couldn't see any way only straight up, but I heard him holler "Contact!" and then the engine began to roar and I saw the propeller start to go around, and then we began to slide acrosst the ground and then we gave a bounce and sarted to go up, and I hollered to him to let me out, but I am glad he didn't hear me, and pretty soon I caught the edge and pulled up as far as I could for the strap and stretched my neck and looked over the side and we were about a million miles up in the air, and then the plane turned a corner and one side went up and the other down and I shut my eyes and hung onto the seat, and the first thing I knew we were on the ground and he lifted me out. He said I was a brave boy and he gave me a steel hat he wore in the war. Gee! I told the bunch about it all the rest of the day, and they all wanted the steel hat. But I am going to keep it to remember the man by and to wear if I ever go to war. I am going to be an aviator instead of a pirut.

THE PENALTY OF GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incurable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprising what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you. If not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Eckard Drug, or your own druggist.—The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.
